In Their Place Stephen Crossley, 2017-08-20 This book

critiques how impoverished communities are represented by politicians the media academics and policy makers and how our understanding of these neighbourhoods is often misleadingly shaped by these stories The alleged behavioural failings of poor people have attracted a great deal of academic and political scrutiny Spatial inequalities are also well documented and poor neighbourhoods have been extensively researched However other spaces have been re imagined in different ways by politicians academics journalists and social reformers These imagined geographies include exoticised slums cities being reclaimed by nature the street and domestic spaces like the kitchen or even the bedroom In Their Place highlights how these spaces are represented and how these representations are deployed manipulating political and media discourses around the individuals and communities who live there These distortions are often used to keep people in their place by making sure everyone knows where the poor belong This book will reorient those interested in human geography away from deprived neighbourhoods and back to the foundational spaces where political decisions and poverty are made in Britain today

The

Best Class You Never Taught Alexis Wiggins, 2017-09-27 The best classes have a life of their own powered by student led conversations that explore texts ideas and essential questions In these classes the teacher's role shifts from star player to observer and coach as the students Think critically Work collaboratively Participate fully Behave ethically Ask and answer high level questions Support their ideas with evidence and Evaluate and assess their own work The Spider Web Discussion is a simple technique that puts this kind of class within every teacher's reach The name comes from the weblike diagram the observer makes to record interactions as students actively participate in the discussion lead and support one another's learning and build community It's proven to work across all subject areas and with all ages and you only need a little know how a rubric and paper and pencil to get started As students practice Spider Web Discussion they become stronger communicators more empathetic teammates better problem solvers and more independent learners college and career ready skills that serve them well in the classroom and beyond Educator Alexis Wiggins provides a step by step guide for the implementation of Spider Web Discussion covering everything from introducing the technique to creating rubrics for discussion self assessment to the nuts and bolts of charting the conversations and using the data collected for formative assessment She also shares troubleshooting tips ideas for assessment and group grading and the experiences of real teachers and students who use the technique to develop and share content knowledge in a way that's both revolutionary and truly inspiring So, You Want to Work with the Ancient and Recent Dead?
