Automotive News, 2005    Road and Track, 2005    Making it Right Stephen N. Gaiski, 2009    Product Reliability D. N. Prabhakar Murthy, Marvin Rausand, Trond Østerås, 2008-05-23 Currently reliability issues are not addressed effectively in new product development. Product reliability depends on the technical decisions made in the early stages and the impact of commercial outcomes in the latter stages. With an effective methodology for reliability performance and specification one can make better decisions. Product Reliability develops a framework linking reliability specifications and product performance in new product development by 1. considering how customer needs and business aims can be translated into product development so that desired performance is met or exceeded; 2. discussing the data requirements, tools and techniques needed to build models vital to decision making; 3. providing an approach applicable to many products. This book is suitable for managers and engineers involved in new product design. It can be used as a text for graduate courses on design, manufacturing, new product development and operations management and in various engineering disciplines.    Popular Mechanics, 2003-02 Popular Mechanics inspires, instructs and influences readers to help them master the modern world. Whether it's practical DIY home improvement tips, gadgets and digital technology information on the newest cars or the latest breakthroughs in science, PM is the ultimate guide to our high tech lifestyle.    Lemon-Aid New Cars and Trucks 2013 Phil Edmonston, 2012-12-01 Canada's automotive Dr. Phil says there's never been a better time to buy a new car or truck thanks to a stronger Canadian dollar, a worldwide recession driving prices downward and a more competitive Japanese auto industry that's still reeling from a series of natural disasters.    The Aging World Anil Bagchi, 2005 The world is full of disparities where graying appears as a new social element. The demographic change along with the differences in wealth and knowledge will greatly influence the future. Globalization will be faster and the knowledge network stronger. The slender family and the empty home will see growth of new human emotions which will break away from the confines of biological compulsions. Remaining in touch with the planetary network will be the way of the future man. Working for the network will be his purpose of life. The Aging World is an exploration of the developing challenge. The future will not happen; it will have to be created in the close world. The billion strong elderly will have to join the mainstream economy as the age integrated society will not afford their leisure. Prof. Ranjit Kumar Chandra, the noted immunologist writes: Humans are complex organisms; their evolution is a result of complex interactions of genes and environment. Bagchi has attempted the almost impossible task of looking at the interplay of history, demography, macroeconomics and sociology and its impact on the aging of world populations. His analyses appear convincing. It will be interesting to watch how his predictions will unfold in reality.
