Environmental Resilience and Sustainable Agri-food System Management Song Wang, Juan Lu, Yifang Liu, Jason Grant, 2025-12-05 The world is grappling with severe environmental degradation making environmental resilience a critical priority. Climate change intensifies this challenge with rising temperatures shifting weather patterns and extreme weather events threatening ecosystems and food security. In the agricultural sector, environmental pollution has worsened recently, contributing to soil degradation, water contamination, and biodiversity loss. Restoring the environment and enhancing agricultural resilience is crucial for sustainable agriculture. Addressing these challenges requires integrating environmental resilience with sustainable practices to create agri-food systems that are economically viable and resilient to climate change. This Research Topic aims to develop economically viable strategies that enhance the resilience of agri-food systems to environmental changes while promoting sustainable resource use and ecological balance. By focusing on effective methods to improve environmental resilience, we seek to create agri-food systems that are both profitable and capable of withstanding the challenges posed by climate change. Ultimately, enhancing environmental resilience is crucial for increasing agricultural sustainability and ensuring a stable food supply in the face of a changing climate. High quality Original Research and Review articles in this field are all welcome for submission to this Research Topic. Research interests include but are not limited to the following areas: Enhancing environmental resilience in Agri-food Systems; Policy and innovative mechanisms for resilient and sustainable Agriculture; Ecological restoration and biodiversity conservation in Agri-ecosystems; Policy optimization and innovative mechanism towards a resilient Agri-food System; Climate change mitigation and adaptation in agricultural practices; Sustainable agricultural practices management; Resource management in agricultural practices; Climate risk in Agri-Food production and circulation. Food and Nutrition Bulletin, 2014. Advances in Hydrologic Forecasts and Water Resources Management. Fi-John Chang, Shenglian Guo, 2021-01-20 The impacts of climate change on water resource management as well as increasingly severe natural disasters over the last decades have caught global attention. Reliable and accurate hydrological forecasts are essential for efficient water resource management and the mitigation of natural disasters. While the notorious nonlinear hydrological processes make accurate forecasts a very challenging task, it requires advanced techniques to build accurate forecast models and reliable management systems. One of the newest techniques for modeling complex systems is artificial intelligence (AI). AI can replicate the way humans learn and has great capability to efficiently extract crucial information from large amounts of data to solve complex problems. The fourteen research papers published in this Special Issue contribute significantly to the uncertainty assessment of operational hydrologic forecasting under changing environmental conditions and the promotion of water resources management by using the latest advanced techniques such as AI techniques. The fourteen contributions across four major research areas: 1 machine learning approaches to hydrologic forecasting; 2 uncertainty analysis and assessment on hydrological modeling under changing environments; 3 AI techniques for optimizing multi objective reservoir operation 4 adaption strategies of extreme hydrological events for hazard mitigation The papers published in this issue will not only advance water sciences but also help policymakers to achieve more sustainable and effective water resource management      Advances in Applied Econometrics Subal C. Chandrasekhara Rao, R. Radhakrishna, Ram Kumar Mishra, Venkata Reddy Kata, 2015-10-07 This book examines the performance of organized retail chains supplying the agri input and output services in terms of achieving their objective of utilising collective bargaining power in the marketing of their agricultural produce integrating empirical experience from India and other selected developing countries The scenario of marketing for agricultural products has been undergoing rapid changes with the rise of organised retailing the Indian term for supermarkets a process that is likely to accelerate in years to come with India being on the threshold of a supermarket revolution In fact India is referred to as the final frontier in the development of supermarkets The growth of supermarkets in India is faster than that in China which is also witnessing an exponential growth as part of the third wave of supermarket diffusion The book investigates the links between organised retailing and farmers and farming in India Apart from raising issues of equity inclusion and problems in policy framework it also discusses policy interventions that are essential in order to make the development of organised retailing more inclusive and beneficial to the farming community and agricultural sector The book further serves as a guide for policy makers helping them to select the right kind of interventions to balance growth with equity as market forces penetrate deeper into the agricultural marketing space intense dispute between supporters of the qualitative perspective and their quantitative counterparts with both sides having grown deeply entrenched in their respective views a complementary approach promising the possibility of integration had finally been proposed By that time however the vast majority of researchers had committed to one stance or the other very few of us argued that the two approaches could be complementary Since then the number of publications scientific meetings and other activities devoted to the mixed methods approach has increased exponentially throughout the world At a substantive level we are pleased to see that a growing number of fields are generating mixed methods research and we are eager to assist in promoting this trend But naturally the field has experienced some growing pains a certain degree of heterogeneity in terms of approaches differences of opinion regarding certain conceptualizations for example mixed methods vs multimethods numerous design taxonomies multiple ways of integrating qualitative and quantitative elements and various positions on how best to overcome the enduring lack of symmetry between qualitative and quantitative aspects The methodological and substantive spectrum is vast and broad possibly because the mixed methods approach has become obligatory for much research not only in psychology but in practically all branches of the social sciences Commonwealth Universities Yearbook ,1986 The Commercial and Financial Chronicle ,1959 The Indian Journal of Agricultural Sciences ,2017 Omega-3 Delivery Systems Pedro J.
