Frederick Watts and the Founding of Penn State Roger L. Williams,2021-04-26 Frederick Watts came to prominence during the nineteenth century as a lawyer and a railroad company president but his true interests lay in agricultural improvement and in raising the economic social and political standing of Pennsylvania s farmers After being elected founding president of The Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society in 1851 he used his position to advocate vigorously for the establishment of an agricultural college that would employ science to improve farming practices He went on to secure the charter for the Farmers High School of Pennsylvania which would eventually become the Pennsylvania State University This biography explores Watts s role in founding and leading Penn State through its formative years Watts adroitly directed the school as it was sited built and financed opening for students in 1859 He hired the brilliant Evan Pugh as founding president who with Watts quickly made it the first successful agricultural college in America But for all his success in launching the institution Watts nearly brought it to the brink of closure through a series of ruinous presidential appointments that led to an abandonment of the land grant focus on agriculture and engineering Watts's influence in the agricultural modernization movement and his impact on land grant education in the United States both in his role with Penn State and later as US commissioner of agriculture made him a leader in the history of agricultural and higher education Roger L Williams's compelling biography of Watts reestablishes him in this legacy providing a balanced analysis of his missteps and accomplishments

Wallace's Farmer, 2013    English Mechanic and Mirror of Science, 1873    Commodification of Global Agrifood Systems and Agro-Ecology Yildiz Atasoy, 2017-05-18 This book explores the shifting relations of food provisioning in Turkey from a comparative global political economy perspective. It offers in-depth ethnographic analysis, interviews, and historical insights into the ambiguities and diversities that simultaneously affect the changing conditions of food and agriculture in Turkey. Specific issues examined include the commodification of land, food, and labour; the expansion and deepening of industrial standardization; the expansion of a supermarket model; and concomitant changes in as well as the simultaneous co-existence of traditional methods of production and marketing. Contrasting observations are drawn from diverse locales to provide examples of convergence, divergence, and cohabitation in relation to transnationally advocated industrial models. Commodification of Global Agrifood Systems and Agro-Ecology employs a form of comparative perspective that allows the particular processes of restructuring of agrifood relations in Turkey to be simultaneously distinguished from yet related to changes taking place in global power dynamics. Yıldız Atasoy explores agrifood transformation in Turkey with a unique approach that considers a plurality of intertwined normative influences, ontological beliefs, cultural, religious, narratives, political struggles, and critical interpretive positions. Based on original research, the book treats changes in food provisioning as an analytical thread capable of uncovering how the normative acceptability of capitalized agriculture and technoscientific innovation is entangled with processes of class formation, growing inter-capitalist competition, and Islamic politics. Such processes in turn frame income, wealth generation, landscape management, agro-ecological dynamics, and labour practices, as well as the taste and smell of place.
