Agricultural Science Papers 2014 Grade 12:

Foreign Direct Investment in Agriculture Jan Schüpbach, 2015-10-07 Foreign direct investment in agriculture and land has increased substantially since the 2007 2008 food price crisis However there is a severe lack of quantitative evidence on its economic impact Therefore the primary goal of this study was to collect and analyze empirical evidence in order to better understand the potential benefits and pitfalls of such investments and related processes of agricultural commercialization In particular the study tests the effect of two strategies for including smallholder farmers into modern food supply chains 1 Outgrower schemes i e a type of contract farming whereby small scale farmers produce crops for large scale farming enterprises 2 Wage employment on large scale estates The central part of the study looks at one specific investment project in the Zambian sugar cane sector This sectoral focus was supplemented by a broader cross sectoral analysis of a large nationally representative panel survey Overall the evidence suggests that large scale investments by foreign as well as domestic companies and especially the model of cooperation with smallholder farmers in outgrower schemes can indeed have positive and significant effects on the income and wealth of rural households

2017 The State of Food and Agriculture Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-04-04 One of the greatest challenges today is to end hunger and poverty while making agriculture and food systems sustainable The challenge is daunting because of continued population growth profound changes in food demand and the threat of mass migration of rural youth in search of a better life This report presents strategies that can leverage the potential of food systems to become the engine of inclusive economic development and rural prosperity in low income countries It analyses the structural and rural transformations now under way and examines the opportunities and challenges they present to millions of small scale food producers It shows how an agroterritorial planning approach focused on connecting cities and towns and their surrounding rural areas combined with agro industrial and infrastructure development can generate income opportunities throughout the food sector and underpin sustainable and inclusive rural transformation to remaking TAE in Africa to inspire leaders both formal and informal of other TAE organizations It emphasises adaptive strategies and processes creating an internal culture driven by stakeholder needs and where organizational transformation improves the quality and relevance of teaching research and outreach The chapters cover the role of TAE in agricultural transformation trends in TAE in Africa solutions to the rigour versus relevance dilemma curriculum design informed by actual and emerging labour market conditions innovation and entrepreneurship TAE quality assurance and networking among TAE institutions The Indian Journal of Agricultural Sciences ,2017 The State of Food and Agriculture 2017

Food and Agriculture Organization,2017-11-10 One of the greatest challenges today is to end hunger and poverty while making agriculture and food systems sustainable The challenge is daunting because of continued population growth profound changes in food demand and the threat of mass migration of rural youth in search of a better life This report presents strategies that can leverage the potential of food systems to become the engine of inclusive economic development and rural prosperity in low income countries It analyses the structural and rural transformations now under way and examines the opportunities and challenges they present to millions of small scale food producers It shows how an agroterritorial planning approach focused on connecting cities and towns and their surrounding rural areas combined with agro industrial and infrastructure development can generate income opportunities throughout the food sector and underpin sustainable and inclusive rural transformation Leveraging Gender, Youth and Social Networks for Inclusive and Transformative Livestock Production in the Tropics and Subtropics Stefan Burkart,Renee Marie Bullock,Juan Andrés Cardoso Arango,Marcela Ramos ,Natalia Triana Angel,2024-10-14

Social research has provided critical insights into understanding gender and generational gaps and the ways that power relations create differentiated access to agricultural and livestock technologies and services Many of these technologies and services such as improved feed options grass legume associations silvo pastoral systems improved animal genetics health and welfare grazing management and associated water and soil health and manure management have the potential to improve livelihoods sustainability food security and generational transfer dynamics Their adoption contributes to mitigating many of the impacts the livestock sector has on the environment through for example reducing greenhouse gas emissions and deforestation increasing biodiversity restoration and land sparing Likewise their adoption helps producers adapt to climate change Parliamentary Papers Great Britain. Demafelis,2015 Vulnerability of farmer's livelihood to climate variability induced hazards in Siraro District, West Arsi Zone, Oromia, Regional State, Ethiopia Jarso Wakeyo Utala,2019-05-08 Master s Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Agrarian Studies grade Very Good course Population and Socioeconomic Development Planning language English abstract Most previous studies on vulnerability of smallholder farmer s livelihood to climatic hazards had focused on large scale global regional or national levels In addition they gave more focuses to assessment of impacts of climatic hazards to farmers than assessment of farmer s vulnerability to climatic hazards Thus this study was designed to bridge this gap by assessing vulnerability of farmer s livelihood at household level measured as perceived sensitivity and lack of adaptive capacity to climatic hazards and by exploring sets of socioeconomic indicators that significantly determine vulnerability of farmers livelihoods Cross sectional data was collected through household survey from 379 randomly selected respondents which were also complemented with qualitative assessments Principal component analysis was used to identify major socioeconomic indicators that contribute to vulnerability of farmer s livelihood using orthogonal axis rotation in SPSS version 20 Binary logit model was used to identify principal socioeconomic indicators that significantly influence sensitivity and adaptive capacity of livelihoods of sampled farmers The findings revealed that households that are heterogeneous in location of residence sources of income ownership to animals have significant influence on perceived sensitivity of farmers to climatic hazards However socioeconomic indicators such as age gender family size have insignificant influence on sensitivity of farmer s livelihood to climatic hazards Gender marital status educational status of household head coping mechanisms like grain cash saving NRM practices has significant influence on perceived adaptive capacity of farmers Yet access to social interconnectedness such as idir or iqub family relatives and cost of drinking water has insignificant influence on perceived adaptive capacity of farmers Currently 59% 38% and 3% of sampled farmers have overall vulnerability status of low moderate and high respectively The overall conclusion is that differences in status of vulnerability of their livelihoods are attributed to differences in their present socioeconomic attributes Community should strengthen existing hazard coping mechanisms whilst GOs and NGOs should support farmers in diversification of income sources and restocking of animals Active community engagement in planning and execution of disaster risk reduction strategies and practices is also indispensable Sessional Papers Canada.
