Agricultural Science Question Paper March 2014:

Agrarian Change and Urbanization in Southern India Seema Purushothaman, Sheetal Patil, 2019-08-28 This book takes readers on a journey through the evolution of agricultural communities in southern India from their historical roots to the recent global neo liberal era. It offers insights into a unique combination of themes with a particular focus on agrarian change and urbanisation specifically in the state of Karnataka where both aspects are significant and co-exist. Based on case studies from Karnataka in South India the book presents a regional yet integrated multi disciplinary framework for analysing the persistence, resilience and future of small farmer units. In doing so it charts possible futures for small farm holdings and identifies means of integrating their progress and sustainability alongside that of the rest of the economy. Further it provides arguments for the relevance of small holdings in connection with sustainable livelihoods and welfare at the grass roots while also catering to the welfare needs of society at the macro level. The book makes a valuable contribution to the scholarship of agrarian as well as peri urban transdisciplinary literature. For agrarian academics, students and the teaching community the book's broad and topical coverage make it a valuable resource. For development practitioners and for those working on issues related to urbanisation, urban peripheries and the rural urban interface this book offers a new perspective that considers the primary sector on par with the secondary and tertiary. It also offers an insightful guide for policymakers and non-government organisations working in this area.

Climate Change and Agricultural Development Udaya Sekhar

Nagothu,2016-07-15 Two of the greatest current challenges are climate change and variability and food security Feeding nine billion people by 2050 will require major efforts aimed at climate change adaptation and mitigation One approach to agriculture has recently been captured by the widely adopted term of Climate Smart Agriculture CSA This book not only explains what this entails but also presents practical on the ground studies of practices and innovations in agriculture across a broader spectrum including agroecology and conservation agriculture in less developed countries It is shown that CSA is not a completely new science and a number of its recommended technologies have been used for some time by local farmers all over the world What is relevant and new is the approach to exploit their adaptation and mitigation potential However a major limitation is the lack of evidence based knowledge that is necessary for policy makers to prepare strategies for adaptation and mitigation This book assembles knowledge of CSA agroecology and conservation agriculture and perspectives from different regions of the world to build resilient food systems The first part analyzes the concept opportunities and challenges and provides a global perspective drawing particularly on studies from Africa and Asia The second part of the book showcases results from various studies linked to soil water and crop management measures from an ongoing program in India as well as experiences from other regions The third section assesses the needs for an enabling policy environment mainstreaming gender and some final recommendations for up scaling and or out scaling innovations
