Stephen Snyder,2018-11-04 This book examines the little understood end of art theses of Hegel Nietzsche and Danto The end of art claim is often associated with the end of a certain standard of taste or skill However at a deeper level it relates to a transformation in how we philosophically understand our relation to the world Hegel Nietzsche and Danto each strive philosophically to overcome Cartesian dualism redrawing the traditional lines between mind and matter Hegel sees the overcoming of the material in the ideal Nietzsche levels the two worlds into one and Danto divides the world into representing and non representing material These attempts to overcome dualism necessitate notions of the self that differ significantly from traditional accounts the redrawn boundaries show that art and philosophy grasp essential but different aspects of human existence Neither perspective however fully grasps the duality The appearance of art s end occurs when one aspect is given priority for Hegel and Danto it is the essentialist lens of philosophy and in Nietzsche s case the transformative power of artistic creativity Thus the book makes the case that the end of art claim is avoided if a theory of art links the internal practice of artistic creation to all of art s historical forms Writing Instruction for Generation 2.0 Gloria E. Jacobs,2011-01-16 Writing Instruction for Generation 2 0 addresses many of the concerns teachers have about the impact of the digital world on student writing and suggests ways for teachers to approach these issues within a 21st century literacies framework This book is not about teaching the writing process running a writing workshop or using specific digital tools to support writing instruction Forward thinking teachers who wish to understand the 21st century literacies understand what youth are doing in respect to those literacies and discover how they can apply this knowledge to classroom instruction will find answers to their questions The chapters include specific suggestions but those suggestions are meant as a jumping off point for imaginative and innovative teachers to adapt to meet the specific needs of students in their classrooms
