(Journalist),2008 A weekly record of scientific progress Primates in Perspective Christina J. Campbell,2011 This volume contains forty seven original essays by seventy leading researchers offering an overview of all major areas of primatology Arranged in six sections the text begins with an introduction to primatology and a review of the natural history of the major taxonomic groups within the order Primates It goes on to cover methodologies and research design for both field and captive settings primate reproduction primate ecology and conservation and their roles in the daily lives of primates and such aspects of social behavior and intelligence as communication learning and cognition The volume ends with a concluding chapter by the editors that discuss the future of primatological research Handbook of Human Molecular Evolution, 2

Volume Set David N. Cooper,Hildegard Kehrer-Sawatzki,2008-10-13 This splendid compendium will be the standard reference work for years to come a handbook to browse to consult to look things up in and to read with pleasure wonder and post Darwinian exhilaration Richard Dawkins This is a marvellous book It should be in every university library preferably in several copies and every reader of this journal should add it to their next grant application It really is that good I have already found this book to be invaluable For many years to come these two volumes will be the starting point for anyone wishing to find out about virtually any subject relating to human genetics Any scientist working on humans or other animals will find many things in these pages that will stimulate inform and inspire The authors editors and publishers are to be congratulated for their work order a copy now HUMAN GENETICS The publishers and editors deserve to be congratulated for publishing this major book which coincides with the 200th anniversary of the birth of Charles Darwin The book is well timed with biologists theologians and sociologists engaged in intense debate on the Darwinian Theory on the origin of species evolution and natural selection There is little doubt that this marvellous publication should be in the library of universities and academic institutions dealing with basic and applied biology research and education It will not be surprising if the individual academic or researcher decides to invest in this resource and enrich their personal collection of leading books in genetics and genomics GENOMIC MEDICINE A Unique Collection of High Quality Articles Derived from the Acclaimed Encyclopedia of Life Sciences The revolution in human molecular genetics which has taken place over the last three decades has yielded a wealth of information not only on the structure and function of our genes but also on gene expression mutation and polymorphic variation Over the last five years the focus has moved from genes to genomes Even though the annotation of our 30 000 genes is still in progress genome wide studies have already yielded abundant evidence for the signatures of past selection and adaptive evolution within human gene sequences Further the completion of the sequencing of the 3 billion base pair human genome coupled with the increasing availability of other vertebrate genome sequences has ushered in a new era of comparative genomics We are now able to identify many of the molecular events from the chromosomal level down to the single base pair that have occurred during vertebrate mammalian primate and hominid evolution Indeed the detailed comparison of the human and chimpanzee genomes has begun to reveal some of the genetic changes that have been involved in the development of human lineage specific traits We are thus acquiring the ability to ask searching questions about our origins about the demographic processes associated with the global radiation of humankind as well as some of the unique adaptations that make us human Evolutionary biology has become so broad that its impact may be felt across the spectrum of the biological sciences The aim of the Handbook of Human Molecular Evolution is relatively straightforward to bring together under the same cover the many and varied strands of our knowledge of human primate vertebrate molecular evolution Hence the 282 chapters that comprise this essential reference work have been thematically arranged into twelve sections covering the whole scope of research into human molecular evolution General Concepts in Evolutionary Genetics Mutation Adaptation and Natural Selection Evolutionary and Population Genetics Human Evolution Human Genome Evolution Evolution of Human Gene Structure and Function Evolution of Gene Expression Mitochondrial Genome Evolution Chromosomal Evolution Comparative Genomics Evolution and Disease Susceptibility Analysis of Ancient DNA This conceptual outline informed the selection of the chapters themselves and the connections between them Some of these chapters are intended to be introductory aimed at undergraduates and non specialists They provide basic information and a list of recommended further reading to encourage the reader to explore a topic in more depth This approach helps the student reader progress from textbook material to primary literature Some chapters are overviews that address topics of broad interest and importance while others focus on quite specialized topics These chapters are written for postgraduate students and research workers they contain more detailed information and key references allowing the reader to investigate a specific area in more depth This format allows professionals to use the books as a quick reference source The chapters are richly supplied with website information to allow access to relevant data sources over the internet The self contained peer reviewed articles in this unique handbook have been written by leading scientists in each field Key topics include the evolution of enzyme function the use of nucleic acid divergence as a molecular clock the origin of non functional or junk DNA the role of gene duplication in the emergence of novel gene function and the identification of molecular changes responsible for various human characteristics especially those pertaining to infection cognition disease and disease susceptibility The Handbook of Human Molecular Evolution has adopted an integrated approach to the study of human evolution and seeks throughout to emphasize the interplay between molecular genetic concepts and principles on the one hand and information acquisition and interpretation on the other In this way it is hoped that the documents of evolutionary history written into the fabric of our genome will become accessible to the widest possible audience      Cornell University Courses of Study Cornell University,2007

Comparative Medicine ,2008      Applied Memory Matthew R. Kelley,2009 The goal of the applied memory volume is to highlight many interesting and creative applications of basic memory phenomena that are underrepresented or even unrepresented in the literature Authors were charged with the task of reviewing relevant basic and applied research and offering new empirical investigations into the applications of these benchmark phenomena To this end Applied Memory consists of 17 chapters that explore the influences of generation irrelevant speech verbal overshadowing isolation part set cuing reminiscence hyperremnesia placebos mental state metamemory knowledge flashbulb events and traumatic events on memory in everyday settings as well as applications of source memory social memory involuntary autobiographical memory dream memory and strategic memory regulation The volume is designed as a resource for basic and applied memory researchers and as a supplementary text in graduate or upper level undergraduate courses in cognitive psychology human memory or applied psychology     The Times Index ,2008 Indexes the Times and its supplements     School Library Journal ,2008     Anthropology News ,2009     The American Psychologist ,2008-02 Includes proceedings of the 54th 55th annual meetings of the association 1946 47 and proceedings of meetings of various regional psychological associations     Journal of Experimental Biology ,2009     B.A.S.I.C. ,1963
