

Agreed-upon procedures

Introduction to AUP

Agreed-upon procedure engagements are engagements where the CPA is asked to perform specific procedures agreed upon by the client and the CPA in order to obtain limited assurance about the subject matter. The CPA is not required to obtain an understanding of the client's internal controls or to perform any testing of the client's financial statements. Agreed-upon procedure engagements are often used to provide comfort to third parties who are relying on the financial statements, but who are not willing to pay for a full audit. The CPA is required to be independent.

An agreed-upon procedures engagement is an attestation engagement in which a practitioner performs specific procedures on subject matter and reports the findings without providing an opinion or conclusion. The subject matter may be financial or nonfinancial information. Because the needs of an engaging party may vary widely, the nature, timing, and extent of the procedures may vary, as well.
