Amelia Earhart: The Woman Who Flew Across the Ocean
Directions:	Read the passage and answer the questions.
Amelia Earhart was a brave and determined woman who became one of the most famous pilots in history. She loved flying and set many records on airplanes. She showed the world that women could do anything if they worked hard and believed in themselves. Amelia Earhart was born on July 24, 1897, in Atchison, Kansas. As a child, she loved adventure and was never afraid to try new things. She enjoyed climbing trees, playing sports, and exploring. When she was older, she saw airplanes for the first time at a fair. At that moment, she knew she wanted to fly. In 1920, Amelia took her first airplane solo and it changed her life. She started flying lessons and worked hard to become a pilot. In 1925, she became the first woman to fly around the Atlantic Ocean, but she was only a passenger on the plane. Even though she did not fly the plane herself, she became famous. She wanted to prove that she could fly across the ocean alone. May 20, 1931, Amelia Earhart made history by becoming the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean. She flew for 15 hours, battling strong winds and cold weather, before landing in Ireland. This made her one of the most famous pilots in the world. She set more records, including being the first woman to fly alone across the United States. She took off with her navigator, Fred Noonan, to make the long trip. They flew through many different countries along the way. However, on July 2, 1937, as they were flying over the Pacific Ocean, their plane disappeared. Search teams looked for them but they were never found. To this day, no one knows exactly what happened. Amelia Earhart never stopped her trip; she is still remembered as a pioneer who showed the world that women could be pilots and follow their dreams. Her story continues to inspire people all over the world.
