

Initial Start-Up

To obtain necessary coverage, please fill out and return the necessary registration card now.

Inspection

Support the UPS upon receipt. Thoroughly inspect the entire unit and device if there is damage. The packaging is recyclable; save it in case of a future shipment of a product.

Placement

Install the UPS in a protected area that is free of moisture dust and has adequate air flow. Do not operate the UPS where the temperature will frequently or routinely exceed the specified limits.

Warning: Changes or modifications to this unit not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the warranty.

Installation

To install the UPS, please follow the installation instructions in the Smart-UPS Reference Guide.
The UPS is supplied with a two-wire line connection. See the APC Website (www.apc.com) for a reliable connection.

Charge the battery

The UPS charges its battery whenever it is connected to utility power. The battery will charge fully during the first 4 hours of normal operation. Do not expect full runtime during this initial charge period.

Best Views

Connect Computer Interface Port (Optional)

Power management software and interface kits can be used with this UPS. The only kit implied or approved by the manufacturer is the UPS kit. Connect the interface cable to the 5-pin computer interface port on the back panel of the UPS. Secure the connector's screws to complete the connection.

Connect Ground Leads to TNVS Connector (Optional)

The UPS features a TNVS connector for connecting the ground lead on transient voltage surge suppressors (TVSS) devices such as telephone and network line protectors. The TNVS connector provides protection through the UPS's power cord ground conductor. To make a connection to the TNVS connector, remove the cover and connect the surge suppressor device's ground lead. Tighten the screw to secure the lead.

Battery Pack Connector (2000-WA only)

Use the battery pack connector to connect the optional external battery pack.

Voltage Sensitivity

The UPS detects low voltage disturbances such as sags, surges, dips, and swells, as well as disturbances caused by operation with compressors and generator protection. By default, the UPS reacts to disturbances by transferring to its battery operation to protect the loads. These power quality events, the UPS may frequently transfer to its battery operation. If the loads are operated normally under such conditions, battery capacity and runtime life may be consumed by reducing the sensitivity of the UPS.

To reduce UPS sensitivity, press the configuration button on the rear panel. Use a pointed object such as a pen to press the button. Press it once to set the UPS's sensitivity to medium. Press it again to set the sensitivity to low. Press the button a third time to reset normal sensitivity.

When the UPS is set to normal sensitivity, the configuration LED is brightly lit. When it is set to medium sensitivity, the LED is dimly lit. When it is set to low sensitivity, the LED is off.

Low Battery Warning Interval

By default, the low battery warning occurs when there are approximately two quarters of no-battery run time remaining. This may not be enough time to gracefully shut down your protected computer system.

To change the warning interval, press the rear panel configuration button, while pressing and holding the front-panel on-test button.

2 min. Press the configuration button once to set the low battery warning interval to approximately two minutes. Press it again to set the interval to approximately seven minutes. Press the button a third time to reset the period to two minutes.

Operating Instructions

Switch On — Switch Off

With the UPS plugged in, press and release the large upper on-test button to supply power to the loads. The loads are automatically powered while the UPS performs a self-test.

Press and release the small lower off button to turn off power to the loads. It may be convenient to use the UPS as a master on/off switch for the protected equipment.

Note: Whenever the UPS is plugged in and utility voltage is present, the charger initiates battery charge.

The on-line LED illuminates when the UPS is supplying utility power to the loads.

Self-test

The UPS performs a self-test automatically when turned on, and every two weeks thereafter (by default). Automatic self-test occurs immediately upon the UPS's start-up. Pressing the self-test button initiates the self-test.

During the self-test, the UPS briefly operates the loads on battery. If the UPS passes the self-test, it returns to on-line operation.

If the UPS fails the self-test it automatically returns to on-line operation and lights the replace battery LED.

The loads are not affected by a failed test. Recharge the battery overnight and perform the self-test again. If the replace battery LED is still on, replace the battery using the Replacing the Battery procedure.

On Battery

During on-battery operation, the on-battery LED illuminates and the UPS sounds an audible alarm consisting of three beeps every 30 seconds. The alarm stops when the UPS returns to on-line operation.

Low Battery

When the UPS is operating on battery and the energy reserve of the battery runs low, the UPS beeps continuously and the UPS shuts down from battery exhaustion in order to on-line operation.

The LED display on the right of the front panel shows the present charge of the UPS's battery as a percentage of the battery's capacity. When all five LEDs light, the battery is fully charged. The top LED goes out whenever the battery is at 100% charged. When the LEDs are flashing, the battery can supply less than the "low battery warning interval" time for the load.

Shutdown Mode

If there is no utility power present, a load system connected to the computer interface port can command the UPS to shut down. This is usually done to preserve battery capacity after a controlled shutdown of the protected system. In shutdown mode the UPS stops supplying power to the load, leaving the the status of utility power.

The UPS sounds the front panel indicator repeatedly in shutdown mode. If the UPS has shutdown due to a low battery, the UPS lights the Battery Charge Bar Graph only. When low power is restored, the UPS returns to on-line operation.

Replace Battery

If the battery fails a self-test, the UPS sounds short beeps the user

Overload

When loads exceed the UPS's capacity, the overload LED illuminates, the UPS sounds a increased tone, and the input circuit breaker may trip (the probable cause: plugging of the correct breaker page 60). The alarm means you need the overload is occurred. Disconnect unnecessary load equipment from the UPS to eliminate the overload. If there is AC power and the correct breaker does not trip during overload, the loads are still protected. If the correct breaker trips and the UPS attempts to go on battery, the output AC will shut down.

Cold Start

When the UPS is off and there is no utility power, it is possible to cold start the UPS to power the loads from the UPS's battery.

Note: Cold start is not a normal condition.

- Press and hold the on-test button until the UPS beeps (beeping).
- Release the on-test button during the beeping to start the UPS. Utility Voltage Bar Graph.

The UPS has a diagnostic feature that displays the utility voltage. With the UPS plugged into the external utility power, press and hold the on-test button to use the utility voltage bar graph display. After approximately five seconds the 5-LED display on the right of the front panel shows the utility input voltage. Refer to the System button for the voltage reading.

The display indicates that the voltage is between the displayed value from the line and the next higher value. For example, with three LEDs lit, the input voltage is between 240 and 247 VAC. When LEDs come on, and the UPS is plugged into a working AC power outlet, the line voltage is extremely low. If all five LEDs come on, the line voltage is extremely high and should be checked by an electrician.
