The key to understanding the introduction of design is to present the primary responsibility associated with design. The typical engineering culture does not require every team member who joins the problem to have the creative insight, skill, technical knowledge, and/or the ability to design or to implement the system described in the given design. It is necessary that a team leader, designer or designer-in-training is responsible to those who are not responsible for design or implementation. The team leader's role is to ensure that the team members who are responsible for design or implementation are able to do so.
