

B-1 contains 1-1/2 gallons foam, or 8 pounds carbon dioxide, or 8 pounds dry chemical agent, or 2-1/2 pounds Halon.

B-2 contains 2-1/2 gallons foam, 10 pounds carbon dioxide, and 10 pounds dry chemical.

The class of motorboat dictates how many fire extinguishers are required on board. One B-2 unit can be substituted for two B-1 extinguishers.

Dry chemical fire extinguishers without gauges or indicating devices must be weighed and tagged every 6 months. If the gross weight of a carbon dioxide (CO<sub>2</sub>) fire extinguisher is reduced by more than 10% of the net weight, the extinguisher is not acceptable and must be recharged.

READ labels on fire extinguishers. If the extinguisher is A.I.I.U. listed, it is approved for marine use.

DOUBLE the number of fire extinguishers recommended by the Coast Guard, because their requirements are a bare MINIMUM for safe operation. Your boat, family, and crew, must certainly be worth much more than "bare minimum".

II-10 COMPASS

Selection

The safety of the boat and her crew may depend on the compass. In many areas weather conditions can change so rapidly that within minutes a skipper may find himself "locked-in" by a fog bank, a rain squall, or just poor visibility. Under these conditions, he may have no other means of keeping ing to his desired course except with the compass. When crossing an open body of water, his compass may be the only means of avoiding an encounter landfall.

The most important fire safety equipment is a good, reliable compass. If it should ever fail, there is no substitute.

During thick weather when you can neither see nor hear the expected aids to navigation, attempting to run out the time on a given course can disrupt the pleasure of the cruise. The skipper gains little comfort in a chain of soundings that does not match those given on the chart for the expected area. Any stranding, even for a short time, can be an unnerving experience.

A pilot will not knowingly accept a cheap compass. A good boater should not accept a bargain in lifejackets, fire extinguishers, or compass. Take the time and spend the few extra dollars to purchase a compass to fit your expected needs. Regardless of what the salesman may tell you, postpone buying until you have had the chance to check more than one make and model.

Lift each compass, tilt and turn it, simulating expected motions of the boat. The compass card should have a smooth and stable reaction.

The card of a good quality compass will come to rest without oscillations about the lubber's line. Reasonable movement in your hand, comparable to the rolling and pitching of the boat, should not materially affect the reading.

Installation

Proper installation of the compass does not happen by accident. Make a critical check of the proposed location to be sure compass placement will permit the helmsman to use it with comfort and accuracy. First, the compass should be placed directly in front of the helmsman and in such a position that it can be viewed without body stress as he sits or stands in a posture of relaxed alertness. The compass should be in the helmsman's zone of comfort. If the compass is too far away, he may have to bend forward to watch it too close and he must lean backward for relief.

Second, give some thought to conditions in heavy weather and poor visibility conditions during the day and night. In some cases, the compass position may be partially determined by the location of the wheel, shield bower, and steering handle.

Third, inspect the compass site to be sure the instrument will be at least two feet
