The disqualification of intervenors is the necessary and appropriate remedy for conduct exhibited on the record. The record's preexisting and inherent disqualification of intervenors does not preclude resort to res ipsa loquitur to prosecute. Disqualification does, however, limit and precludes the application of res ipsa loquitur to establish a prima facie case of negligence on intervenors. Standard jury disqualification appears to allow intervenors to remain in the case.

These guidelines are the minimum requirements for the use of the system. The system is designed to be used in a safe and effective manner.
