Cannabis sativa Cultivation, Production, and Applications in Pharmaceuticals and Cosmetics Lone, Rafiq,Mir, Aabid Hussain,Manzoor, Javid,2023-03-21 Cannabis sativa has a long history however it has not been fully exploited for its beneficial uses This plant can solve many present challenges including challenges found in the pharmaceutical and cosmetic industries Bioprospecting of this very important plant can generate economic upliftment of weaker sections of society and states if properly used under rules and regulations Cannabis sativa Cultivation Production and Applications in

Pharmaceuticals and Cosmetics discusses in detail the current research conducted in the area of Cannabis sativa in order to make it more useful and sustainable for the future It further focuses on the exploration of Cannabis sativa phytoconstituents in various fields especially in the pharmaceutical and cosmetic industries Covering topics such as bioactive properties molecular modeling and soil pollutants this premier reference source is an excellent resource for pharmacologists pharmacists health professionals food scientists agricultural scientists botanists chemists students and educators of higher education librarians researchers and academicians

Underutilised Crop Genomes Mark A. Chapman,2022-11-03 This book highlights the uses for underutilized crops presenting the state of the art in terms of genome sequencing for over 30 crops previously understudied and under researched In a changing climate and with significant pressure on the land it is the ideal time to be discussing novel crops with significant biotic and abiotic tolerances and or rich nutrient profiles for consumers Previously the only species with sequenced genomes were high profile internationally recognized crops but in the current era genomes are being sequenced for dozens of crops including those previously classified as underutilized now being investigated This book covers food crops from fruits to tubers and from grasses to legumes as well as crops with non food applications Some of these crops have draft genomes and others have polished genomes with extensive resequencing panels Each chapter tells the story of an individual crop or crop group written by experts focusing on the genome data available revealing more about crop domestication and genetic variation and the current and future prospects given that this data is now becoming available It also highlights how even small sequencing projects can provide draft genome sequences suitable for gene discovery comparative genomics and identification of molecular markers for understanding these crops further

Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015 (Volume 3) Union Of International Associations,Union of International Associations,2014-08-20 The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non profit international organizations currently available Detailed profiles of international non governmental and intergovernmental organizations IGO collected and documented by the Union of International Associations can be found here In addition to the history aims and acitvities of international organizations with their events publications and contact details the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations biographies of key people involved and extensive statistical data Volume 3 allows readers to locate organizations by subjects or by fields of activity and specialization and includes an index to Volumes 1 through 3     Melanoma Development Anja K. Bosserhoff,2017-01-20 This book focuses on malignant melanoma discussing the current state of scientific knowledge and providing insights into the underlying basic mechanisms the molecular changes genetics and genomics Human Melanoma is a dangerous type of skin cancer affecting an increasing population and a better understanding of its development will help in finding sophisticated targeted therapies The second revised edition features the latest research findings and offers updates on the latest advances and potential novel melanoma therapies It is a valuable resource for researchers and clinicians working in the fields of melanoma cancer research and therapy as well as dermatology     Human Insecurities in Southeast Asia Paul J. Carnegie,Victor T.

King,Zawawi Ibrahim,2016-08-30 This book is a collection of work by scholars currently pursuing research on human security and insecurities in Southeast Asia It deals with a set of insecurities that is not readily understood or measurable As such it conceptually locates the threats and impediments to human security within relationships of risk uncertainty safety and trust At the same time it presents a wide variety of investigations and approaches from both localized and regional perspectives By focusing on the human and relational dimensions of insecurities in Southeast Asia it highlights the ways in which vulnerable and precarious circumstances human insecurities are part of daily life for large numbers of people in Southeast Asia and are mainly beyond their immediate control Many of the situations people experience in Southeast Asia represent the real outcomes of a range of largely unacknowledged socio cultural economic transformations interlinked by local national regional and global forces factors and interests Woven from experience and observations of life at various sites in Southeast Asia the contributions in this volume give an internal and critical perspective to a complex and manifold issue They draw attention to a variety of the less than obvious threats to human security and show how perplexing those threats can be All of which underscores the significance of multidisciplinary approaches in rethinking and responding to the complex array of conditioning factors and interests underlying human insecurities in Southeast Asia     Recent advancements in microbe-pesticide interaction: A smart-soil bioremediation approach, 2nd edition Pankaj Bhatt,Shaohua Chen ,Cormac Murphy,2024-06-19 The increasing use and the continuous development of pesticides are required to maintain sufficient global food production The pesticide residues and their biotic and abiotic breakdown products may be harmful to the environment and may leach into waterways thus it is crucial that the interactions of pesticides with microorganisms are deeply understood at all levels Pesticides reach the soil via direct and indirect routes The fate of the pesticides in the soil is affected by chemical physical and microbiological factors Microbial degradation of pesticides in soil is possible owing to the diverse metabolic capabilities of the microorganisms present thus indigenous microbes act as biocatalysts for the remediation of the pesticides from the environment The research topic will cover novel insights into microbial pesticide degradation with specific attention to the microbe pesticide interactions in soil To date researchers have focused on the degradation of pesticides using indigenous microbes with different degradation rate There is scant information about the degradation intermediates metabolic pathways enzymes and complete set of factors involved into the microbes inhabiting into the pesticides contaminated soil Therefore this Research Topic aims to contribute to the understanding of the role of microbes in pesticide degradation in soil Since pesticide exposure may result in stress responses in the microbial population of the soil there is also a need to know about the impact of pesticides on the microbial cell structure membrane transporters cellular content metabolic pathways and gene expression We are interested in reports of novel metabolic pathways expression of the key genes in response to pesticide exposure and the changes in microbial physiology caused by pesticide exposure The removal of the pesticides from the soil requires smart microbial methods that can reduce the pesticides concentration in a short time The development of the smart bioremediation methods includes the direct application of the potential screened microbial strains and their enzymes The immobilized microbial strains and their enzymes can be used for the rapid removal of the toxic pesticides from the soil environment In addition engineering of the microbial consortia can be developed as the potential smart bioremediation tool Papers on single isolates or microbial communities are welcome as are reports of novel genes enzymes or metabolites that might be used as markers of soil contamination We would especially welcome manuscripts describing the application and development of smart soil bioremediation approaches that could be beneficial for the treatment of large scale contaminated agricultural and industrial soils The research topic is of immediate interest to scientists and policy makers and Frontiers in Microbiology is an ideal forum for a collection of novel high impact reports The following themes are welcome but not limited to Novel advancements into the microbe pesticide interactions to clean the pesticide contaminated soil High throughput screening of the potential bacterial fungi and algae strains for the removal of pesticides from the contaminated soil Smart soil bioremediation using indigenous microbial cultures and their purified enzymes Microbial enzymes a smart tool for bioremediation of the soil Engineering of the microbial consortia for the complete pesticides removal and resource recovery

Climate Change and the Role of Education

Walter Leal Filho, Sarah L. Hemstock, 2019-11-28 This book offers insights into the educational dimensions of climate change and promotes measures to improve education in this context It is widely believed that education can play a key role in finding global solutions to many problems related to climate change Indeed education as a process not only helps young people to better understand and address the impact of global warming but also fosters better attitudes and behaviours to aid efforts towards mitigating climate change and adapting to a changing environment But despite the central importance of education in relation to climate change there is a paucity of publications on this theme Against this background the book focuses on the educational aspects of climate change and showcases examples of research projects and other initiatives aimed at educating various audiences It also provides a platform for reflections on the role education can play in fostering awareness on a changing climate Presenting a wide range of valuable lessons learned which can be adapted and replicated elsewhere the book appeals to educators and practitioners alike
