Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience. Higher Education - Reflections From the Field - Volume 1, 2023-11-02 COVID wrought havoc on the world's economic systems. Higher education did not escape the ravages brought on by the pandemic as institutions of higher education around the world faced major upheavals in their educational delivery systems. Some institutions were prepared for the required transition to online learning. Most were not. Whether prepared or not, educators rose to the challenge. The innovativeness of educators met the challenges as digital learning replaced the face-to-face environment. In fact, some of the distance models proved so engaging that many students no longer desire a return to the face-to-face model. As with all transitions, some things were lost while others were gained. This book examines practice in the field as institutions struggled to face the worst global pandemic in the last century. The book is organized into four sections: On The Perspectives of Higher Education, COVID as a Catalyst for Change, Embracing Online Learning as a Response to COVID, and Post-Covid The Way Forward. It presents various perspectives from educators around the world to illustrate the struggles and triumphs of those facing new challenges and implementing new ideas to empower the educational process. These discussions shed light on the impact of the pandemic and the future of higher education post-COVID. Higher education has been forever changed and higher education as it once was may never return. While many questions arise, the achievements in meeting and overcoming the pandemic illustrate the creativity and innovativeness of educators around the world who inspired future generations of learners to reach new heights of accomplishment even in the face of the pandemic. From Student to Urban Planner Tuna Taşan-Kok, Mark Oranje, 2017-12-06 For many young planners, the noble intentions with going to planning school seem starkly out of place in the neoliberal worlds they have come to inhabit. For some, the huge gap between the power they thought they would have and what they actually do is not only worrying but also deeply discouraging. But for some others, practice means finding practical and creative solutions to overcome challenges and complexities. How do young planners in different settings respond to seemingly similar situations like these? What do they do: give up, adjust, or fight back? What role did their planning education play and could it have helped in preparing and assisting them to respond to the world they are encountering In this edited volume stories of young planners from sixteen countries that engage these questions are presented The sixteen cases range from settings with older established planning systems e g USA the Netherlands and the UK to settings where the system is less set e g Brazil being remodeled e g South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina and under stress e g Turkey and Poland Each chapter explores what might be done differently to prepare young planners for the complexities and challenges of their real worlds This book not only points out what is absent but also offers planning educators an alternative vision The editors and esteemed contributors provide reflections and suggestions as to how this new generation of young planners can be supported to survive in embrace and change the world they are encountering and in the spirit of planning endeavor to change it for the better Coping
