Planet Earth

How much do you know about your home? No, not the house or apartment you live in — our planet, Earth. It's big and round, and it's where we all live. Can you name the continents and the oceans? Do you know where the coldest place on Earth is? Do you know the Earth's largest island? This issue will give you lots of information about your home, planet Earth!

Can you guess off why we all put a globe in the middle of each group? (You'll probably need to borrow some globes from other classrooms.) Look at the large bodies of water on the planet. Did you know the Pacific Ocean is the largest and deepest off all the oceans? See all those large landmasses? You probably know they are called continents. Some bodies of water are sea continents, with the Ural Mountains of Russia being the dividing line between Europe and Asia. Others say there is only one continent, Eurasia. Scientists say the continents are about 25 million miles (40 kilometers). You'll need a very big shovel to dig to the other side. Did you know the landmasses on the Earth are constantly moving?

Doesn't move, you don't need a seat belt. The continents are only moving about 2 to 3 inches a year.

Now, find land or study. These countries are called peninsulas. A peninsula is land that is surrounded on three sides by water. Can you find other examples?

Find the water separating the state of Alaska from Russia. This is called the Bering Strait. A strait is a narrow section of water connecting two larger bodies of water. Can you name other bodies of water? The opposite of a strait is called an isthmus. (Can you find a long narrow body of land connecting two larger bodies of land?) Central America is probably the most famous isthmus. It connects North and South America.

Find the European country of Switzerland. Like the states of Iowa and Kansas, Switzerland is a landlocked area. Landlocked means it doesn't touch any bodies of water. Can you find other countries in the world that are

Connections

Philanthropy and Values

Maybe you have heard the word "philanthropy." Before, what does it mean? It describes actions that people make for the good of other people. What is a value? It's a way of believing that people believe in good — like believing it's good to be honest. Is honesty one of your values?

Did you ever practice philanthropy today? To help yourself and others have good values, it's time you have good values. You can have them from your parents and grandparents, your teachers at school or church, and other people you trust.

Now, can other have them from people that have been recognized for doing good things for society. An easy way to have about people that have done good things is to visit values.com. Values.com has lots of stories and short videos that highlight other traits that make each of us better people. They even have billboards on the highway to remind you about good values.

For example, you may have seen a billboard that looks like this one shown here.

This billboard is about Omid Kordestani, who saved money from his job to send 19 kids to college... all by himself! Who's that cool? Now can learn about lots of other people who practice philanthropy at values.com. Be sure to look for some of their "billboards" on Page 4 of Studies Weekly this year. Who thinks they're not cool? You can remind your church there too!
