special interpretations of non canonical questions involve syntactic projections at or even above the level of illocutionary force In this work Andreas Trotzke argues that this approach is a mistake and proposes a new alternative theory of non canonical questions in which both their special pragmatics and their syntax as well as in many cases their emotive component can be derived solely from propositional level operators that do not affect the illocutionary level of utterances and can be found across illocutionary forces This account dramatically simplifies the syntactic analysis of non canonical questions and is also able to capture some previously unobserved data in the discourse behavior of those question types
