Castagno,Teresa McCarty,2017-07-06 Advancing a rapidly growing field of social science inquiry the anthropology of policy this volume extends and solidifies this body of work focusing on education policy. Its goal is to examine timely issues in education policy from a critical anthropological ethnographic and comparative perspective and through this to theorize new ways of understanding how policy does its work. At the center is a commitment to an engaged anthropology of education policy that uses anthropological knowledge to imagine and foster more equitable and just forms of schooling. The authors examine the ways in which education policy processes create reflect and contest regimes of knowledge and power sorting and stratifying people ideas and resources in particular ways. In contrast to conventional analyses of policy as text based dictated linear and rational an anthropological perspective positions policy at the interface of top down bottom up and meso level processes and as de facto and de jure. Demonstrating how education policy operates as a social cultural and deeply ideological process on the ground each chapter clearly delineates the implications of these understandings for educational access opportunity and equity. Providing a single go to source on the disciplinary history theoretical framework methodology and empirical applications of the anthropology of education policy across a range of education topics policy debates and settings the book updates and expands on seminal works in the field carving out an important niche in anthropological studies of public policy The Arthur Andersen Chronicle ,1977 Professional Issues for Teachers and Student
