PAPER 1- MODULE 2

1. SPECIMEN PAPER

Q16 The general form of a rate equation is given by:

$$\text{Rate} = k[A]^a[B]^b$$

The rate constant, k , is defined as the rate of reaction when the concentration of each reactant (in mol dm^{-3}) is

(A) 0

(B) $1/2$

(C) 1

(D) 2

Item 17 refers to the data in the table, obtained for the reaction between molecular X and Y at 500K. The stoichiometric equation for the reaction is

Experiment Number	Initial conc / mol dm^{-3}		Initial rate / $\text{mol dm}^{-3} \text{s}^{-1}$
	X	Y
1	0.01	0.02	2.7×10^{-6}
2	0.02	0.02	4.8×10^{-6}
3	0.01	0.01	1.2×10^{-6}

Q17 The correct orders of reaction with respect to X and Y are

	X	Y
(A)	0	2
(B)	2	0
(C)	1	0
(D)	1	1

Item 18 refers to the following data for the reaction between propanone, iodine and hydrogen ions.

Proceedings of The 7th MAC 2016 group of authors, 2016-05-24 Proceedings of The 7th MAC 2016 The 7th Multidisciplinary Academic Conference in Prague 2016 Czech Republic Fynbos Nicky Allsopp, Jonathan F. Colville, G. Anthony Verboom, 2014 South Africa's fynbos region has intrigued biologists for centuries. It has achieved iconic status as a locus of megadiversity and therefore a place to study the ecological underpinnings of massive evolutionary radiations. Researchers have made great advances over the past two decades in unravelling the complexities of fynbos ecology and evolution and the region has contributed significant insights into the adaptive radiations of large lineages conservation science pollination biology invasive plant biology and palaeoanthropology. Lessons from the fynbos offer much of value for understanding the origin maintenance and conservation of diversity anywhere in the world. This book provides the first synthesis of the field for 20 years bringing together the latest ecological and evolutionary research on the South African global biodiversity hotspots of the Greater Cape Floristic Region the iconic fynbos and succulent karoo. It explores the historical and modern physical and biological environment of this region the circumstances and processes which have fostered its remarkable biodiversity and the role this diversity has played in the emergence of modern humans. It also discusses the challenges of contemporary management and conservation of the region's biodiversity in the face of accelerating global change. South Africa Survey, 2009 Biology of Oysters Brian Leicester Bayne, 2017-05-12 Biology of Oysters offers scientific insights into the structure and function of oysters. Written by an expert in the field of shellfish research this book presents more than 50 years of empirical research literature. It provides an understanding of the edible oysters in order to equip students and researchers with the background needed to undertake further investigations on this model marine invertebrate. Presents empirical research findings in context with the relevant theory and its expression in computer models. Includes information on studies of other bivalve species such as mussels and clams. Offers a description of the whole organism to provide a frame of reference for further research. Includes research developments in the phylogeny physiology and ecology of oysters. Encyclopedia of the Sciences of Learning Norbert M. Seel, 2011-10-05 Over the past century educational psychologists and researchers have posited many theories to explain how individuals learn i.e. how they acquire organize and deploy knowledge and skills. The 20th century can be considered the century of psychology on learning and related fields of interest such as motivation cognition metacognition etc and it is fascinating to see the various mainstreams of learning remembered and forgotten over the 20th century and note that basic assumptions of early theories survived several paradigm shifts of psychology and epistemology. Beyond folk psychology and its naive theories of learning psychological learning theories can be grouped into some basic categories such as behaviorist learning theories connectionist learning theories cognitive learning theories constructivist learning theories and social learning theories. Learning theories are not limited to psychology and related fields of interest but rather we can find the topic of learning in various disciplines such as philosophy and epistemology education information science biology and as a result of the emergence of computer technologies especially also in the field of computer sciences and artificial intelligence As a consequence machine learning struck a chord in the 1980s and became an important field of the learning sciences in general As the learning sciences became more specialized and complex the various fields of interest were widely spread and separated from each other as a consequence even presently there is no comprehensive overview of the sciences of learning or the central theoretical concepts and vocabulary on which researchers rely The Encyclopedia of the Sciences of Learning provides an up to date broad and authoritative coverage of the specific terms mostly used in the sciences of learning and its related fields including relevant areas of instruction pedagogy cognitive sciences and especially machine learning and knowledge engineering This modern compendium will be an indispensable source of information for scientists educators engineers and technical staff active in all fields of learning More specifically the Encyclopedia provides fast access to the most relevant theoretical terms provides up to date broad and authoritative coverage of the most important theories within the various fields of the learning sciences and adjacent sciences and communication technologies supplies clear and precise explanations of the theoretical terms cross references to related entries and up to date references to important research and publications The Encyclopedia also contains biographical entries of individuals who have substantially contributed to the sciences of learning the entries are written by a distinguished panel of researchers in the various fields of the learning sciences

The American Naturalist ,2009 The Big Issue, Cape Town ,2007 Toxicology Research Projects Directory ,1976 An indexed directory of current research project abstracts in toxicology and related fields Restoring Natural Capital James Aronson,Suzanne J. Milton,James N. Blignaut,2012-09-26 How can environmental degradation be stopped How can it be reversed And how can the damage already done be repaired The authors of this volume argue that a two pronged approach is needed reducing demand for ecosystem goods and services and better management of them coupled with an increase in supply through environmental restoration Restoring Natural Capital brings together economists and ecologists theoreticians practitioners policy makers and scientists from the developed and developing worlds to consider the costs and benefits of repairing ecosystem goods and services in natural and socioecological systems It examines the business and practice of restoring natural capital and seeks to establish common ground between economists and ecologists with respect to the restoration of degraded ecosystems and landscapes and the still broader task of restoring natural capital The book focuses on developing strategies that can achieve the best outcomes in the shortest amount of time as it considers conceptual and theoretical issues from both an economic and ecological perspective examines specific strategies to foster the restoration of natural capital and offers a synthesis and a vision of the way forward Nineteen case studies from around the world illustrate challenges and achievements in setting targets refining approaches to finding and implementing restoration projects and using restoration of natural capital as an economic opportunity Throughout contributors make the case that the restoration of natural capital requires close collaboration among scientists from across disciplines as well as local people and when successfully executed represents a practical realistic and essential tool for achieving lasting sustainable development
