

AEM 2240 – Spring 2020 – Take-Home Exam 1 (Practice Problems WITH SOLUTIONS)

Important notes:

- Please keep in mind that there are often different ways to solve a problem. In the answers, I usually merely propose one way. If you are unsure whether your way of solving the problem is correct, please see me or one of my TAs.
- In the solutions, you'll see that, sometimes, I was being lazy and provided answers only to the second decimal. In the exam, unless it's a dollar amount, please provide four (4) decimals in your answers (e.g., 10.21% or 0.1021). It helps my TAs and I, grade the exams. For dollar amounts, two decimals are fine (e.g., $15.32).
- Unless further specified, when I provide a required rate of return of X%, it's the return that investors demand on an annual basis. For instance, "investors require a return of 10%" = investors want their investment to grow by 10% every year.
