Just in Time Teaching Scott Simkins, Mark Maier, 2023-07-03 Just in Time Teaching JiTT is a pedagogical approach that requires students to answer questions related to an upcoming class a few hours beforehand using an online course management system. While the phrase just in time may evoke shades of slap dash work and cut corners, JiTT pedagogy is just the opposite. It helps students to view learning as a process that takes time, introspection, and persistence. Students who experience JiTT come to class better prepared and report that it helps to focus and organize their out-of-class studying. Their responses to JiTT questions make gaps in their learning visible to the teacher prior to class, enabling him or her to address learning gaps while the material is still fresh in students' minds. Hence the label just in time. JiTT questions differ from traditional homework problems in being designed not only to build cognitive skills but also to help students confront misconceptions, make connections to previous knowledge, and develop metacognitive thinking practices. Students consequently spend more time on course concepts and ideas but also read their textbooks in ways that result in more effective and deeper learning. Starting the class with students' work also dramatically changes the classroom learning environment, creating greater student engagement. This book demonstrates that JiTT has broad appeal across the academy. Part I provides a broad overview of JiTT, introducing the pedagogy and exploring various dimensions of its use without regard to discipline. Part II of the book demonstrates JiTT's remarkable cross-disciplinary impact with examples of applications in physics, biology, the geosciences, economics, history, and the humanities. Frank Oppenheimer, Julio Luis Medina Pasaje, 2015-12-11 This book brings together a selection of the best papers from the seventeenth edition of the Forum on Specification and Design Languages Conference (FDL) which took place on October 14-16, 2014 in Munich, Germany. FDL is a well-established international forum devoted to dissemination of research results, practical experiences and new ideas in the application of specification, design and verification languages to the design, modeling and verification of integrated circuits, complex hardware, software, embedded systems and mixed technology systems.

CMOS Processors and Memories

Krzysztof Iniewski, 2010-08-09 CMOS Processors and Memories addresses the state of the art in integrated circuit design in the context of emerging computing systems. New design opportunities in memories and processor are discussed. Emerging materials that can take system performance beyond standard CMOS like carbon nanotubes, graphene, ferroelectrics and tunnel junctions are explored. CMOS Processors and Memories is divided into two parts: processors and memories. In the first part we start with high performance, low power processor design followed by a chapter on multi-core processing. They both represent state of the art concepts in current computing industry. The third chapter deals with asynchronous design that still carries lots of promise for future computing needs. At the end we present a hardware design space exploration methodology for implementing and analyzing the hardware for the Bayesian inference framework. This particular methodology involves analyzing the computational cost and exploring candidate hardware components proposing various custom architectures using both traditional CMOS and hybrid nanotechnology CMOL. The first part concludes with hybrid CMOS Nano architectures. The second memory part covers state of the art SRAM, DRAM and flash memories as well as emerging device concepts. Semiconductor memory is a good example of the full custom design that applies various analog and logic circuits to utilize the memory cell's device physics. Critical physical effects that include tunneling, hot electron injection, charge trapping, Flash memory are discussed in detail. Emerging memories like FRAM, PRAM and ReRAM that depend on magnetization, electron spin alignment, ferroelectric effect, built in potential well, quantum effects and thermal melting are also described. CMOS Processors and Memories is a must for anyone serious about circuit design for future computing technologies. The book is written by top notch international experts in industry and academia. It can be used in graduate course curriculum.

Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D.

Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11. This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact. By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods. In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote. First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community. These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research-practitioner partnerships. Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions. Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation Global Mobile Satellite Communications Theory Stojče Dimov Ilčev, 2016-09-23 This book discusses current theory regarding global mobile satellite communications GMSC for maritime land road and rail and aeronautical applications It covers how these can enable connections between moving objects such as ships road and rail vehicles and aircrafts on one hand and on the other ground telecommunications subscribers through the medium of communications satellites ground earth stations Terrestrial Telecommunication Networks TTN Internet Service Providers ISP and other wireless and landline telecommunications providers This new edition covers new developments and initiatives that have resulted in land and aeronautical applications and the introduction of new satellite constellations in non geostationary orbits and projects of new hybrid satellite constellations The book presents current GMSC trends mobile system concepts and network architecture using a simple mode of style with understandable technical information characteristics graphics illustrations and mathematics equations The first edition of Global Mobile Satellite Communications Springer 2005 was split into two books for the second edition one on applications and one on theory This book presents global mobile satellite communications theory Autocar & Motor, 1994 Diagnostic Measurement André A.
