

Engine Management System

System Description

The Daytona 675, Street Triple and Street Triple R models are fitted with an electronic engine management system which optimises control of both ignition and fuel delivery. The electronic engine control (ECU) uses information from various sensors around the engine, cooling and air intake systems and precisely controls ignition advance and fueling requirements for all engine operating conditions.

For details, the system has an onboard diagnostic system. For additional information, see page 10-12.

System Sensors

- Knock or knockless sensor - situated at the top of the engine. As the density of the air and fuel mixture is varied, the fuel changes with temperature, an knock or knockless sensor is fitted. Changes in air temperature and therefore air density are compensated for by adjusting the pressure of fuel injection to a fuel mixture with ideal combustion and low knock.
- Thermocouple pressure sensor - Daytona 675 - situated below the cooling and below the suspension parts. Street Triple and Street Triple R - situated on the rear subframe, forward of the rear light and the thermocouple pressure sensor measures combustion air pressure. With this information, the pressure of fuel injection is adjusted to suit the prevailing conditions.
- Manifold Absolute Pressure (MAP) sensor - situated in the left side of the engine, connected to each of the three throttle bodies to read intake total. The MAP sensor provides information to the ECU which is used to control throttle angle, early/late throttle control to provide accurate engine fuel delivery to the ECU. The degree of engine fuel accuracy allows the ECU to make very small adjustments to fuel and ignition which would otherwise not be possible from throttle angle alone.
- Clutch switch - situated on the clutch lever. The clutch must be pulled in for the clutch master to operate.
- Camshaft position sensor - situated in the cylinder case. The camshaft position sensor detects movement of both camshafts to the alternator case. The detected movement gives a reference point from which the valve overlap position is calculated. The camshaft position sensor information is used by the ECU to determine engine speed and camshaft position in relation to the point where fuel is injected and ignition of the fuel occurs.
- Engine coolant temperature sensor - situated at the rear of the cylinder head. Coolant temperature information, measured by the ECU, is used to optimise heating of all engine components and to calculate fuel and cold start heating requirements.
- Throttle position sensor - situated at the right end of the throttle body. Used to give throttle position information to the ECU. Throttle position angle is used by the ECU to determine fueling and ignition requirements for all throttle positions.
- Road speed sensor - situated in the upper fairing, in front of the engine breather. The road speed sensor provides the ECU with road speed. Road speed, road speed is calculated and displayed on the speedometer.
- Lambda sensor - situated in the exhaust header system upstream of the catalytic. The lambda sensor provides lambda information to the ECU on the content of the exhaust gases. Based on this information, adjustments to the air-fuel ratio are made.
- Side stand switch - situated at the top of the acknowledge leg. If the acknowledge leg is in the down position, the engine will not run unless the acknowledge leg is removed.
- Gear position sensor - situated in the upper fairing, behind the position, engine position sensor, on the left hand side of the engine. The gear position sensor provides the ECU with selected gear information. This is used to prevent the engine from jumping if the transmission is in gear. The sensor also provides information to the gear position indicator and the current gear in the transmission.
- Fuel selection switch - Daytona 675 - situated below the instrument parts. Street Triple and Street Triple R - situated on the right and front fairing behind the fuel tank, the fuel selection switch will change if the motorcycle is on its side and will not power on the ECU. Information. The operates the engine from running and the fuel pump from delivering fuel to the engine of a fuel, the switch is used by disconnecting the fuel to an engine, pressurising and switching the ignition off from left or right.

Americans fed up with the political process vented that frustration with their votes Republicans nominated for president a wealthy businessman and former reality show host best known on the campaign trail for his sharp rhetoric against immigration and foreign trade Democrats nearly selected a self described socialist who ran on a populist platform against the influence of big money in politics While it is not surprising that Americans would channel their frustrations into votes for contenders who pledge to end business as usual the truth is that we don't have to pin our hopes for greater participation on any one candidate All of us have a say if we learn master and practice the skills of effective citizenship One of the biggest roadblocks to participation in democracy is the perception that privileged citizens and special interests command the levers of power and that everyday Americans can't fight City Hall That perception is undoubtedly why a 2015 Pew Charitable Trusts survey found that 74 percent of those Americans surveyed believed that most elected officials didn't care what people like them thought Graham and Hand intend to change that conventional wisdom by showing citizens how to flex their citizenship muscles They describe effective citizenship skills and provide tips from civic experts Even more importantly they offer numerous examples of everyday Americans who have used their skills to make democracy respond The reader will see themselves in these examples of citizens who chose to be victorious participants rather than tranquil spectators in the arena of democracy By the end of the book you will have new confidence that citizen participation is the lifeblood of America and will be ready to make governments work for you not the other way around
