

ASSIGNMENT APPENDIX

APPENDIX B: TECHNICAL DETAILS

Methodological description

The research employed a mixed-method approach, combining quantitative survey and qualitative interviews to gain a comprehensive understanding of participant perceptions of sustainable energy adoption. The methodology consisted of the following steps:

- Survey Design:
A questionnaire survey instrument was developed based on a thorough review of previous literature on sustainable energy adoption and related research. The questionnaire was designed to capture demographic information, energy decisions, and attitudes toward sustainable energy, sustainability behaviors, and energy efficiency.
- Sampling and data collection:
A cluster random sampling technique was used to select participants from three demographic categories. The survey was conducted electronically using online survey platforms and completed via telephone and email. Surveys were conducted in English and Spanish, reflecting the study's target audience.
- Data Analysis:
Quantitative survey data were analyzed using statistical software to generate descriptive statistics, frequency distributions, and correlation analysis. Qualitative interview data were transcribed and analyzed using thematic analysis techniques to identify emerging themes and patterns.
- Integration of findings:
Quantitative and qualitative findings were integrated to provide a comprehensive understanding of participant perceptions and behavior related to sustainable energy adoption. Discrepancies and divergences between the two data sources were explored to enrich the interpretation of results.

The methodology employed rigorous internal validation to ensure participant confidentiality, anonymity, and data protection throughout the research process.
