

PROBLEM 2-22 Schedule of Cost of Goods Manufactured; Income Statement (LO1, LO2, LO3, LO4)

Veekay Company was organized on November 1 of the previous year. After seven months of start-up losses, management had expected to earn a profit during June, the most recent month. Management was disappointed, however, when the income statement for June also showed a loss. June's income statement follows:

VEEKAY COMPANY Income Statement For the Month Ended June 30
Sales.....		1660000
Less operating expenses:
Selling and administrative salaries.....	$ 35000
Rent on facilities.....	40000
Purchases of raw materials.....	205000
Insurance.....	10000
Depreciation, sales equipment.....	7000
Utilities costs.....	55000
Indirect labour.....	15000
Direct labour.....	55000
Depreciation, factory equipment.....	12000
Maintenance, factory.....	5000
Advertising.....	85000
Operating loss.....		$ (31000)

After seeing the $31,000 loss for June, Veekay's president stated, "I was sure we'd be profitable within six months, but after eight months we're still spilling red ink. Maybe it's time for us to throw in the towel. To make matters worse, I just heard that Debbie won't be back from her surgery for at least six more weeks."

Debbie is the company's controller; in her absence, the statement above was prepared by a new assistant who has had little experience in manufacturing operations. Additional information about the company follows:

- Only 85% of the rent on facilities applies to factory operations; the remainder applies to selling and administrative activities.
- Inventory balances at the beginning and end of June were as follows:

	June 1	June 30
Raw materials.....	15000	14000
Work in process.....	7000	5000
Finished goods.....	22000	65000

- Some 90% of the insurance and 80% of the utilities cost apply to factory operations; the remaining amounts apply to selling and administrative activities.

The president has asked you to check over the above income statement and recommend whether the company should continue operations.

Required:

- As one step in gathering data for a recommendation to the president, prepare a schedule of cost of goods manufactured for June.
- As a second step, prepare a new income statement for the month.
- Based on your statements prepared in (1) and (2) above, would you recommend that the company continue operations?

PROBLEM 2-23 Ethics and the Manager (LO2)

The top management of General Electronics Inc. is well known for "managing by the numbers." With an eye on the company's desired growth in overall net profit, the company's CEO sets target profits at the beginning of the year for each of the company's divisions. The CEO has stated her policy as follows: "I won't interfere with operations in the divisions. I am available
