

Descriptive Essay for Grade 8

Where the Danger Is The weather was cold and gray as usual at this time of year. The trees were all leafless, with fall now just a memory. Christmas was just a few weeks away, and all the kids were looking forward to staying home from school for a few weeks and to the "big payoff" on Christmas morning. Not having to go to school was good, but usually by the time vacation was over, going to school was a big relief. Back to the friends to compare "loot" from Christmas and, to reestablish those fragile ties that hold kids together. At school, students were praised for doing good work, not belittled for each and every mistake. No one there was fighting, and being too loud was against the rules. Right now, the world outside of home was safer and more structured, not chaotic, scary and loud. Even when bad things did happen, it was always far away and nothing to be too concerned about. With Dad often having too much to drink, and Mom just mad at everyone all the time, being home was not usually a very pleasant experience. Playing outside in the woods or at a friend's house was the norm for three of us kids. We knew everyone that lived on our road, and except for the cranky old people who lived at the bottom of the hill, everyone was nice to us. In a small rural community, the only thing to be feared at that time of year was crashing on a sled or frost bite from staying out too long. Unless something like that happened, the only rule was to be home before dark. But that weekend morning was different. We were all home, and the day was starting off rather quietly. None of the kids were arguing, no dogs were barking, and Mom and Dad were actually talking, not shouting or sniping at each other. Dad was sitting at his spot at the dining room table, and Mom was in the kitchen starting breakfast. Usually sitting along the table with Dad at the head was like being at a tennis match, watching the action and listening to the arguments between him at the end and Mom over at the stove. When the telephone rang, Dad didn't pick it up, even though he was sitting next to it. Mom walked over behind him and answered the call. "Hello? Hi, Bobbie. What? What are you talking about? How did this happen? Oh, my God, I don't believe it! When did they find her? Oh, poor Connie, how will she handle this?" Mom's voice kept getting higher and higher in pitch, and the tears were starting to flow. This sort of response was totally out of character for her. We all just sat there trying to figure out what sort of gossip our next-door neighbor would have that would cause such a reaction. Dad didn't say anything, but somehow knew that whatever had happened was completely out of the ordinary. Events occur during each lifetime that forever alter the perception of the world being a safe place to play in. Feeling secure means being at home, no matter the atmosphere, with the door locked up tight. When Mom finally got herself under control, she said in a low voice, "Margaret was found murdered this morning over on Lauffer Mine Road." Suddenly, our safe little community became a place of uncertainty and confusion where one of the neighbor's children was a victim of a killer. The thought that a murderer might be on the loose in our area was one without precedent. The most serious crimes until this moment had been kids corning and soaping the windows on Halloween night. The idea of something like this happening to one of the neighborhood children was almost unbelievable. As the day wore on, this tragedy lost some of its shock value and became a part of our reality. Mom was on the phone quite a bit, talking in Knowing and Writing School History Luciana C. Oliveira, 2011-02-23 This book presents a qualitative study on the language resources 8th and 11th grade students use to write expositions in school history. It combines functional linguistic analysis with educational considerations focusing on English language learners and culturally diverse students in California.

Tests That Teach Karen Tankersley, 2007-08-15 Karen Tankersley examines the various types of questions that routinely appear on national and state assessments and offers guidelines on how to create daily lessons that encourage students to practice the skills and demonstrate the knowledge they'll need to use on high stakes tests

Writing Achievement of California Eighth Graders, Year Two Mary Frances Claggett, California. State Department of Education, 1989 The second statewide direct writing assessment was conducted for grade eight by the California Assessment Program CAP in the spring of 1988.

Each student wrote an essay in response to 1 of 45 prompts writing tasks representing 6 types of writing: autobiographical, incident report, problem solution, evaluation, story, and firsthand biography. A total of 294 859 essays were scored at 6 regional scoring sites by 384 teachers. This number includes a 5% sample of papers that was double scored for reliability studies. Approximately 96% of the students who took the essay test comprehended the writing tasks and responded to the topic. Scores were assigned for rhetorical effectiveness, special features such as coherence or elaboration, and conventions. Results revealed that most students wrote adequate or marginally adequate essays. 62% some wrote exceptionally well, 12% and others wrote poorly, 22%. Eighth graders were most competent at reporting information, less competent at writing autobiography and firsthand biography, and least able to write a story and to produce the two kinds of persuasive writing. Also students exhibited better control of conventions than of rhetorical strategies. Overall students' scores increased. Recommendations for school administrators, teachers, and parents are included.
