The Monthly Review of Dental Surgery, 1875 Translation as Communication across Languages and Cultures Juliane House, 2015-10-30 In this interdisciplinary book Juliane House breaks new ground by situating translation within Applied Linguistics. In thirteen chapters she examines translation as a means of communication across different languages and cultures provides a critical overview of different approaches to translation of the link between culture and translation and between views of context and text in translation. Featuring an account of translation from a linguistic cognitive perspective House covers problematic issues such as the existence of universals of translation cases of untranslatability and ways and means of assessing the quality of a translation. Recent methodological and research avenues such as the role of corpora in translation and the effects of globalization processes on translation are presented in a neutral non-biased manner. The book concludes with a thorough historical account of the role of translation in foreign language learning and teaching and a discussion of new challenges and problems of the professional practice of translation in our world today. Almost automatically we learn to interpret how numbers are used in our language what magnitude of numbers we expect to hear in particular contexts how people in our community express degrees of confidence in the reliability of any particular number etc. Context of this kind is lacking when we read a historical narrative composed in an ancient language from a world vastly different from ours. In Quantifying Mentalities Catherine Rubincam helps overcome this barrier to our accurate understanding of the numbers in the works of five major ancient Greek historians by providing a standard against which their credibility can be more accurately judged This systematic quantified study is based on the compilation of statistics concerning a standard constellation of aspects of all the numbers in the historical works of the five earliest wholly or at least substantially surviving ancient Greek historians Herodotus Thucydides Xenophon Anabasis and Hellenica Polybius and Diodorus Siculus Such a comprehensive study has not been attempted before For scholars reading and writing about the history of ancient Greece the volume offers a tool for interpreting the numbers in these ancient texts with more sensitivity to the world in which they were written Standard aspects of number use captured by the coding system are the different types of number cardinals ordinals compounds and non explicit but definite numbers the subject category to which each number belongs Time Distance Size Military Population Money and Miscellaneous and the types of any qualifications attached to it Approximating Comparative Alternative and Emphatic The statistics also facilitate comparisons of every aspect of number use between authors and texts enabling the delineation of a numeric profile for each one This allows us to read these texts with a greater sensitivity to how they might have sounded to the author and his original readers thus providing a firmer foundation for reconstructing or interpreting ancient Greek history
