Adobe Scripting Guide:

Adobe After Effects Scripting Guide Nathan CLARK,2018-12-07 This Book Is To Learn A script is a series of commands that tells an application to perform a series of operations You can use scripts in most Adobe applications to automate repetitive tasks perform complex calculations and even use some functionality not directly exposed through the graphical user interface For example you can direct After Effects to reorder the layers in a composition find and replace source text in text layers or send an e mail message when rendering is complete Although both the After Effects expressions language and the After Effects ExtendScript scripting language are based on JavaScript the expressions features and scripting features of After Effects are separate and distinct Expressions cannot access information from scripts such as variables and functions Whereas a script tells an application to do something an expression says that a property is something However because the After Effects expression language and ExtendScript are both based on JavaScript familiarity with either one is very helpful in understanding the other The heart of a scriptable application is the object model When you use Adobe After Effects you create projects compositions and render queue items along with all of the elements that they contain footage images solids lay ers masks effects and properties Each of these items in scripting terms is an object This guide describes the ExtendScript objects that have been defined for After Effects projects
