packaging and labeling. It also discusses product support services, the product life cycle and the new product development process. The consumer adoption process is explained to provide insights into how consumers accept and use new products. Unit IV Pricing and Distribution Pricing is a crucial aspect of marketing strategy. This unit delves into the significance of pricing factors affecting price determination and various pricing policies and strategies. It also covers distribution channels, their types, functions and factors affecting their selection. Special attention is given to wholesaling, retailing, e-tailing and physical distribution. Unit V Promotion and Recent Developments in Marketing. This unit discusses the nature and importance of promotion, the communication process and the different types of promotion including advertising, personal selling, public relations and sales promotion. It also examines the promotion mix and the factors affecting promotional decisions. Additionally, this unit introduces students to emerging trends in marketing such as social marketing, online marketing, direct marketing, services marketing, green marketing, rural marketing and consumerism. Throughout the book, efforts have been made to present the concepts in a structured and student friendly manner. The book includes real life examples, case studies and self-assessment questions to encourage critical thinking and practical application of marketing concepts. This book is expected to serve as a valuable resource for students, educators and aspiring marketers. We hope it fosters a deeper understanding of marketing principles and equips students with the knowledge required to navigate the ever evolving marketing landscape.

The implications of consumer behavior for marketing Alex Cole, 2013-04-04 Thesis M A from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade A University of Canberra course MA language English abstract This particular research is aimed at finding the marketing implication of influence of social class on consumer behavior for Sainsbury. Social classes differ in respect of behaviors, attitudes and preferences. To investigate the consumer behavior and social class relationship, triangulation methodology has been adopted. A sample of 75 consumers of Sainsbury has been selected through convenience sampling. A questionnaire has been designed to collect data from sample. The findings showed that most of the respondents belonged to middle and lower social classes. The research found that middle and lower classes spend major part of their income on food and necessities of life whereas upper class spends its income on luxuries It has been found that upper class uses internet for getting information about products and services of Sainsbury Middle class uses televisions and newspaper for getting information about products and services of company Upper class has more intentions of online shopping as compared to other classes Upper classes have more attitude of investing in profitable projects It has been found that lower and middle classes use credit cards for shopping and take bank loans for fulfilling their needs Marketers can identify needs and preferences of different social classes from results of this particular research Research has been limited to the findings only which have been collected from a small sample
