The 5 Themes of Geography

Geographers use five themes to help them study and describe the world. These themes help us organize information about places and how people connect to them. You can use the 5 Themes of Geography to describe your hometown, a famous landmark, or even your school!

Location	Place	Human-Environment Interaction	Movement	Region
Where is it?	What is it like there?	How do people interact with their environment?	How do people, goods, & ideas move from place to place?	How are places similar or different?
Absolute location means the exact spot (like coordinates or an address). Relative location describes a place in relation to another (like "north of the river").	Describes physical features (mountains, rivers, climate) and human features (buildings, languages, culture).	How people use, change, or adapt to their surroundings (like farming, pollution, or using air conditioning).	This includes travel, trade, migration, the internet, and even language or cultural exchange.	A region is an area with common features like language, climate, culture, or geography (e.g., the Midwest or a desert region).
