International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties Annemarie Fritz,Vitor Geraldi Haase,Pekka Räsänen,2019-01-30 This comprehensive volume provides teachers researchers and education professionals with cutting edge knowledge developed in the last decades by the educational behavioural and neurosciences integrating cognitive developmental and socioeconomic approaches to deal with the problems children face in learning mathematics The neurocognitive mechanisms and the cognitive processes underlying acquisition of arithmetic abilities and their significance for education have been the subject of intense research in the last few decades but the most part of this research has been conducted in non applied settings and there s still a deep discrepancy between the level of scientific knowledge and its implementation into actual educational settings Now it s time to bring the results from the laboratory to the classroom Apart from bringing the theoretical discussions to educational settings the volume presents a wide range of methods for early detection of children with risks in mathematics learning and strategies to develop effective interventions based on innovative cognitive test instruments It also provides insights to translate research knowledge into public policies in order to address socioeconomic issues And it does so from an international perspective dedicating a whole section to the cultural diversity of mathematics learning difficulties in different parts of the world All of this makes the International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties an essential tool for those involved in the daily struggle to prepare the future generations to succeed in the global knowledge society Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman,John Read,Theo du Plessis,2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience The Semiotics of New Spaces Charlyn Dyers,2018-11-30 In South Africa the township or sub economic state housing development has achieved a very significant position as a site for sociolinguistic research The Semiotics of New Spaces Languaging and Literacy Practices in one South African Township looks at the ways in which people are responding through their semiotic practices to the intense socio historical changes taking place in post apartheid South Africa The study is set against the backdrop of Wesbank one of the first racially mixed housing developments in the Western Cape The result is a range of related topics such as how cross cultural and cross linguistic families influence the language practices of their younger members the impact of translingual friendships on language practices and attitudes the ways in which older people use their existing literacies to negotiate the multilingual realities of the township and aspects such as identity voice and agency as markers of a developing participatory citizenship   Relanguaging Language from a South African Township School Lara-Stephanie Krause-Alzaidi,2021-12-20 Using data from a long term ethnographic study of English language classrooms in a South African township this book highlights linguistic expertise in a setting where it is not usually expected or sought Rather than being peripheral and unskilled South African township teachers and learners emerge as skilled re languagers central to the workings of South African education and to our understanding of how language classrooms work This book foregrounds the heterogeneity flexibility and creativity of day to day language practices that African urban spaces are known for and conceptualises language teaching not as a progression from one fixed language to another but as a circular sorting process between linguistic heterogeneity languaging and homogeneity a standard language   African Press and Advertising Annual ,1964

The Advertising & Press Annual of All Africa ,1964   Learning as Development Daniel A. Wagner,2017-10-04 Learning is the foundation of the human experience It begins at birth and never stops a continuous and malleable link across life stages of human development Disparities in learning access and outcomes around the world have deep consequences for income social mobility health and well being For international development practitioners faced with today s unprecedented environmental and geopolitical pressures learning should be viewed as a touchstone and target for those seeking to truly effect global change This book traces the path of international development work from its pre colonial origins to the emergence of economics as the dominant discipline in the field and lays out a new agenda for policymakers researchers and practitioners from early education through adulthood Learning as Development is an attempt to rethink international education in a changing world   Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,2001
