

Sondagaande – Fanie Viljoen

1. die aand stuur sy roofvoëls uit in die taai donker	1. the night sends his birds of prey out into the sticky darkness
2. hulle draai eers rond	2. they first turn round and round
3. hoog bo die stad se woonsteldakke	3. high above the city's apartment roofs
4. maar mettertyd sirkel hulle laer, al laer	4. but eventually they circle lower and lower
5. en sink neer op die krom lamppale	5. and sink down onto the crooked lampposts
6. vanwaar hulle met skerp oë by vensters kan intuur	6. from where they can peek into windows with their sharp gaze
7. na die prooi wat elke week sielalleen voor Sondagaande staan	7. to the prey who stands so very alone in front of Sunday evenings

Analysis (analyse) of poem

1. die aand stuur sy roofvoëls uit in die taai donker	✦ Figure of speech (beeldspraak): personifikasie. "die aand" is personified as something that can "send (stuur)" birds of prey out into the dark (donker). ✦ "aand" + "donker" = end (einde) of the day (dag). repetition (herhaling) of this idea creates (skep) a gloomy (neerdrukkende) feeling (gevoel). ✦ "sy" = the use (gebruik) of the possessive (besitlike) pronoun (voornaamwoord) indicate (dui aan) that the birds of prey (roofvoëls) belong (behoort)

Afrikaans Literature: Recollection, Redefinition, Restitution ,2023-12-14 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print

Postcolonial Polysystems Haidee Kruger,2012 Postcolonial Polysystems The Production and Reception of Translated Children's Literature in South Africa is an original and provocative contribution to the field of children's literature research and translation studies It draws on a variety of methodologies to provide a perspective both product and process oriented on the ways in which translation contributes to the production of children's literature in South Africa with a special interest in language and power as well as post and neocolonial hybridity The book explores the forces that affect the use of translation in producing children's literature in various languages in South Africa and shows how some of these forces precipitate in the selection production and reception of translated children's books in Afrikaans and English It breaks new ground in its interrogation of aspects of translation theory within the multilingual and postcolonial context of South Africa as well as in its innovative experimental investigation of the reception of domesticating and foreignising strategies in translated picture books The book has won the 2013 EST Young Scholar Prize

Performing Queer: Shaping sexualities, 1994-2004 Mikki Van Zyl,Melissa E. Steyn,2005 This volume explores the social constructions of sexuality in South Africa as articulated in the tensions between margin and mainstream during the transition to democracy The nuances between how people experience their own sexuality how that sexuality differs over time and how they speak about it are discussed in the context of the homosexual communities of South Africa Using the hierarchy of heteronormativity this work argues that centralized constructions of sexuality are generally taken for granted and tend to gain invisibility through their pervasiveness while marginalized social positions are often visibly pathologized
