

Cladograms for Tetrapoda

provides hypothesized evolutionary among a group of species based on early and derived characters.

CHARTER

As a cluster is a group of components, which often don't share the same characteristics, observed clusters are a common approximation. In other other words, in clusters there is a higher chance for interactions with other components within the cluster, than with components outside of the cluster. These properties cluster boundaries become more and more complex, and with more small clusters.
