

AP US History Document Based Question

Between 1800-1896, farmers and workers claimed that the government and the courts overwhelmingly favored big business and the rich. To what extent were they correct in their judgment of the situation?

Document A.

"Facts and figures were heaped together and published to prove to President Grant that, should gold rise in this country about harvest time, grain, the price of which, being fixed in Liverpool, was independent of currency fluctuations, would be worth so much the more and would at once be hurried abroad; but that to secure this blessing Government must not sell any gold. . . . The President seems to have been persuaded that a rise in gold while the crops were moving would advantage the country. At any rate, orders were given early in September to sell only gold sufficient to buy bonds for the sinking fund. The conspirators redoubled their purchases. The price of gold rose till, two days before Black Friday, it stood at 140 1/2. Grant had been duped into doing the bidding of the conspirators. . . . At this time the ring was believed to hold in gold and in contracts to deliver the same, over $100,000,000. . . . To prevent being mobbed the pair encircled their opera house with armed toughs and Red Shillies. There was no civil process or other molestation was likely to reach them. Presently certain of "the thieves" judges," as they were called, came to their relief by issuing injunctions stopping all transactions connected with the conspiracy which would have been disadvantageous for the conspirators." E. Benjamin Andrews, Black Friday, Pg. 134.

Document B.

"The railroads of the United States are creatures of State legislation. There has been no governmental supervision of railway construction. New lines have everywhere been authorized with the utmost freedom by the various States and Territories, and leases, purchases and consolidations have been easily arranged in which State lines have been altogether disregarded. The railroad system has been almost potent agency for the practical unification of our country by quietly obliterating territorial divisions, while threading the land with a network of iron rails along which interstate commerce moves without rest. . . . This universal reliance upon competition as the safeguard of the public has had two noticeable results: first, it has tended to entrench railroad managers in the belief that the public was protected sufficiently thereby, and that carriers by rail, like carriers by sea, were entitled to fix rates at will, subject only to the control of competitive conditions. . . . In the second place, in its practical working, competition bred discrimination. The evils of unjust discrimination in railway methods cannot be too vividly portrayed. As time went on they became more and more pronounced, until they were too great to be endured. Legislative investigations were demanded. . . ." Interstate Commerce Act, April 5, 1887.

Document C.

"The remedy proposed (to regulate railroad rates) was the forbidding of unjust discrimination under pains and penalties. That was the essence of the Interstate Commerce law. In other words, the result was prohibited while the cause was left in full operation. It was thought that free and unrestricted competition must be maintained as an essential principle of the American railway system. . . . Of course discriminations in railway rates are necessary; for example, the rate upon silk and upon sand should not be the same, and the question is often a doubtful one whether a particular discrimination is or is not unjust. The determination of this question, is the matter which has chiefly occupied the attention of the Commission since the passage of the law. . . ." Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, 1887.
