The Handbook of School Psychology Cecil R. Reynolds, Terry B. Gutkin, 2009 As the standard reference in the field this edited handbook focuses on how a school psychologist can operate and create change within the educational system instead of focusing solely on the diagnosis and treatment of an individual Chapters have been updated and revised to provide a contemporary view of the field Direct Instruction Reading Douglas Carnine, 2010 For courses in Direct Reading Instruction Remedial Reading and Reading for Special Education Students Thoroughly integrating the latest guidelines from the National Reading Panel this is a practical guide to teaching reading via the direct instruction reading approach a proven program that is especially powerful with the most vulnerable learners those at risk because of poverty disability limited English Rather than simply list method after method these nationally known and respected authors provide a specific repertoire of carefully sequenced highly prescriptive procedures for teaching decoding comprehension content reading and study skills For each skill to be taught they recommend strategies discuss optimal timing offer examples and explain how to correct errors In addition they thoughtfully examine the relationships among different reading skills School Psychology Review, 2006 Using Direct Phonological Awareness Interventions with At-risk EL Students Gabriel Gutiérrez, 2006

Handbook of Reading Assessment Sherry Mee Bell, R. Steve McCallum, 2008 Comprehensive readable and filled with numerous authentic examples The Handbook of Reading Assessment addresses the continuum of reading assessments from informal classroom based to high stakes formal testing This book is unique in its comprehensive balanced and timely coverage of key issues and challenges in assessment of reading Designed for use by advanced undergraduates and graduates in general education reading education special education and school psychology this much needed resource addresses the wide range of reading assessments educators must be able to use and understand to effectively assess instruct and to communicate across disciplines Separate chapters focus on informal classroom based assessment progress monitoring individual norm referenced assessment and group norm referenced or high stakes testing Each of these chapters concludes with useful tables listing some of the most commonly used assessments and their psychometric properties Reading Instruction for Students who are at Risk Or Have Disabilities William D. Bursuck, Mary Damer, 2007 Organized according to the Reading First categories of reading development and instruction as presented in the report of the National Reading Panel this exciting and timely new text presents teaching strategies for children at risk including children of poverty children for whom English is not their primary language and children with learning and behavioral disabilities These are the children No Child Left Behind challenges teachers to serve more effectively The book is more than a list of teaching strategies that are scientifically validated the scientifically validated practices included are integrated into a systematic teaching process that stresses the use of student outcome data within authentic classroom contexts to guide practice The teaching strategies have been field tested with at risk children in both rural and urban teaching settings Most of the strategies have resulted from work the authors did in their recent four year federally funded model demonstration grant in which they have implemented an extensive reading problem prevention model in grades K 3 in three inner city schools Thus the teaching strategies in the book are ones that the authors implemented every day with at risk children not just findings from research articles Features of this First Edition Include Content organized around the five components validated by the National Reading Panel phonemic awareness phonics fluency vocabulary and comprehension Readers learn how to use DIBELS and other curriculum based assessment results for early identification of children at risk of reading failure and to monitor student progress A unique feature is using DIBELS assessments to pinpoint student skill development as they acquire alphabetic principle Accompanying DVD shows teacher explicitly teaching letter sound recognition regular word decoding sight words multisyllable word reading passage reading vocabulary and comprehension Text explains how to use Differentiated Instruction to maximize learning for all students Specific strategies are detailed for implementing Response To Intervention RTI multi tier instruction during the reading block Examines building vocabulary knowledge through direct and indirect teaching strategies Comprehension strategies identified by the National Reading Panel that help students derive meaning from text are emphasized Strategies for individualizing instruction for adolescents and children who are bilingual and or ESL are included within each chapter Effective strategies for managing classroom behavior including instruction groups are provided so that student behavior does not interfere with reading instruction     Benchmark Writing Assessment Kindergarten Richard Gentry, Ph.D. Jan McNeel, M.A.Ed., 2014-02-01 Download this easy to use benchmark writing test today and use it as a formative assessment in your kindergarten classroom Included are suggested prompts a rubric assessment tools and writing samples     Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills Roland H. Kindergarten Unit and End-of-year Benchmark Assessments Teacher's Manual Pearson/Scott Foresman, 2011 Assess knowledge of unit skills assess writing Cover     The Statistical Relationship Among Number Sense, Computational Fluency, and Montana Comprehensive Assessment System Amy Jo Burland, 2011 According to recent studies less than half of U S students perform at the proficient or advanced levels in mathematics by the time they reach grade 4 and the trend continues through high school In order to improve instruction many districts have adopted scientifically based researched programs such as Response to Intervention RTI which allows for the examination of the effectiveness of the core curriculum that is being used in a school or classroom In addition RTI provides school administrators and teachers with educational tools to identify students who may be at risk of failing and to inform teachers of supplemental instruction needed to build up skills that are identified as weak or lacking Research on early mathematics skills indicates that skills performance at the kindergarten and first grade level may predict performance at later grade levels. Providing intervention early has been shown to have a positive effect on students future mathematics success. This study investigated the long term predictive validity of the AIMSweb measures for kindergarten through grade 2 and the Montana Comprehensive Assessment System MontCAS. The kindergarten and grade 1 assessments included the Test of Early Numeracy which measures number sense skills that include Oral Counting Number Identification Quantity Discrimination and Missing Number. The grade 1 and 2 Mathematics Curriculum Based Measures assessed computational fluency. The scores on these K-2 assessments were analyzed to investigate correlations with the grade 3 MontCAS scores of the same students. The results indicated that Number Identification and Quantity Discrimination provided the most explained variance. Overall the kindergarten scores were stronger indicators of grade 3 performance than the grade 1 scores. A sequential multiple regression model was also used to explore which of the TEN measures along with the hierarchy of tests from kindergarten through grade 2 had the greatest explained variance for the grade 3 MontCAS. The results showed that each test from kindergarten to grade 1 increased the predictability of the grade 3 MontCAS scores however the grade 2 scores did not contribute to the predictability of the grade 3 assessment. Overall Oral Counting indicated the highest explained variance using this model. Reading & Writing Grade by Grade New Standards (Organization). Primary Literacy Committee, 1999.

Indices of Emotion Regulation and Their Relation to Early Literacy in Children with ASD Geovanna R. Rodriguez, 2015. This study examined emotion regulation within the context of autism spectrum disorders (ASD) and its relation to early literacy skills in students with ASD in children participating in a larger longitudinal study of school transition experiences. Participants (N=145) were assessed during the spring of their current school year on measures of early literacy using AIMSweb universal screening measures. An exploratory factor analysis of the Emotion Regulation Checklist identified five factors associated with emotion regulation in children, i.e., Negativity, Mood Dysregulation, Impulsivity, Affective Displays, Emotion Regulation, and Flexibility. Correlation analyses revealed that Emotion Regulation was positively correlated with AIMSweb Letter Naming Fluency (LNF) for children in Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten and negatively correlated with AIMSweb Phoneme Segmentation Fluency (PSF). Parenting ratings of impulsivity were also linked to child performance on AIMSweb Nonsense Word Fluency (NWF). Implications for future research in the validity of ER assessment and its relation to school outcomes in ASD are also discussed. Kindergarten Benchmarks,
