Astray English Edition:

The Iberian Qur'an Mercedes García-Arenal, Gerard Wiegers, 2022-09-20 Due to the long presence of Muslims in Islamic territories Al Andalus and Granada and of Muslims minorities in the Christians parts the Iberian Peninsula provides a fertile soil for the study of the Qur'an and Qur'an translations made by both Muslims and Christians. From the mid twelfth century to at least the end of the seventeenth the efforts undertaken by Christian scholars and churchmen by converts by Muslims both Mudejars and Moriscos to transmit, interpret and translate the Holy Book are of the utmost importance for the understanding of Islam in Europe. This book reflects on a context where Arabic books and Arabic speakers who were familiar with the Qur'an and its exegesis coexisted with Christian scholars. The latter not only intended to convert Muslims and polemicize with them but also to acquire solid knowledge about them and about Islam. Qur'ans were seized during battle, bought, copied, translated, transmitted, recited and studied. The different features and uses of the Qur'an on Iberian soil, its circulation as well as the lives and works of those who wrote about it and the responses of their audiences are the object of this book.

Hebrew-English Edition of the Babylonian Talmud /under the Editorship of I. Epstein

Isidore Epstein, 1989 Once a Week Library: Chords and dischords, by O. Schubin, 1894 The Earliest English Translation of the First Three Books of the De Imitatione Christi Thomas (a Kempis.), 1893 Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue. Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced, more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value. Some refer to this determination as evaluation, others use the term assessment. Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed. This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes, preferences or individual values on which criteria are established. Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria, this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work. Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies; the translation of non-standard language translation into the second language; terminology; the application of theoretical criteria to practice; a social textual perspective; and the reviewing of literary translations in the press. In addition, reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English.

Qur'an Translation as a Modern Phenomenon El-Hussein A.Y. Aly, 2023-09-25 It is a well-established fact nowadays that modernity impacts Islam but there has not been much focus on how modernity impacts the Qur'an, the foundational text of Islam and the verbatim word of God. This book argues that the early Muslim Qur'an translations into English are attempts to reconcile the Qur'an with modernity by producing translations that encompass modern concepts and interpretations of the Qur'an. Are these modern concepts and interpretations valid or do they alter the word of God? This is the main question that the book attempts to answer, particularly that these early translations have affected and still affect Qur'an translation. A Commentary on the Proverbs: with a New Translation and with Some of the Original Expositions Re-examined in a Classified List, by John Miller, 1874

Spanning late Antiquity to the early modern period the collected papers examine distinctive aspects represented by each religion's approach as well as shared concepts.
