Self-Concept in Foreign Language Learning Reiko Yoshida,2024-05-06 This book explores self concept in foreign language FL learning tracing the trajectories of a group of Japanese language learners at an Australian university to illuminate new insights about the factors impacting positive self concept and implications for language learning more broadly The volume calls attention to the ways in which learners perception of themselves as FL learners plays a fundamental role in FL learning Drawing on data from a longitudinal study including student diaries interviews and classroom observations Yoshida outlines shifts in self concept as learners progress from secondary school to university courses to study abroad and beyond The book demonstrates how the learner journey is marked by a growing recognition of the importance of practice for achievement but also a greater sense of self consciousness with learners agency in creating opportunities for themselves to practice their FL as a key factor in improving self concept over time This work offers unique observations about self concept for learners who already have global English as a first language inspiring ways forward for future research and language teaching in other under studied languages The book will appeal to students and researchers in applied linguistics SLA and foreign language learning as well as stakeholders in Japanese language programs

Learning to Industrialize Kenichi Ohno,2014-04-03 This book proposes a new pragmatic way of approaching economic development which features policy learning based on a comparison of international best policy practices While the important role of government in promoting private sector development is being recognized policy discussion often remains general without details as to what exactly to do and how to avoid common pitfalls This book fills the gap by showing concrete policy contents procedures and organizations adopted in high performing East Asian economies Natural resources and foreign aid and investment can take a country to a certain income level but growth stalls when given advantages are exhausted Economies will be caught in middle income traps if growth impetus is not internally generated Meanwhile countries that have soared to high income introduced mindset policies and institutions that encouraged or even forced accumulation of human capital skills technology and knowledge How this can be done systematically is the main topic of policy learning However government should not randomly adopt what Singapore or Taiwan did in the past A continued march to prosperity is possible only when policy makers acquire capability to formulate policy suitable for local context after studying a number of international experiences Developing countries wanting to adopt effective industrial strategies but not knowing where to start will benefit greatly by the ideas and hands on examples presented by the author Students of development economics will find a new methodological perspective which can supplement the ongoing industrial policy debate The book also gives an excellent account of national pride and pragmatism exhibited by officials in East Asia who produced remarkable economic growth as well as serious effort by an African country to emulate this miracle The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/doi/view/10.4324/9780203085530> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The Lute in Britain Matthew Spring,2001 Spring focuses on the lute in Britain but also includes two chapters devoted to continental developments one on the transition from medieval to renaissance the other on renaissance to baroque and the lute in Britain is never treated in isolation Six chapters cover all aspects of the lute s history and its music in England from 1285 to well into the eighteenth century whilst other chapters cover the instrument s early history the lute in consort lute song accompaniment the theorbo and the lute in Scotland Jacket Masterplots Frank Northen Magill,1996 Outlines of musical bibliography Andrew Deakin,1899 Adult Catalog: Authors Los Angeles County Public Library,1970 A Tutor for the Renaissance Lute Diana Poulton,1991 Schott For the complete beginner to the advanced student Dictionary of National Biography Sir Leslie Stephen,Sir Sidney Lee,1897 The academy ,1885 Live of the Irish Saints, with Special Festivals, and the Commemorations of Holy Persons O'Hanlon John Canon (Irish Catholic priest),1873 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1897 Publishers' Circular and General Record of British and Foreign Literature, and Booksellers' Record ,1898
