FCC Statement

Changes or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate the equipment. This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:
(1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and
(2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Mathcad User's Guide Mathsoft, Inc,1997      The Verilog PLI Handbook Stuart Sutherland,2006-04-18 by Maq Mannan President and CEO DSM Technologies Chairman of the IEEE 1364 Verilog Standards Group Past Chairman of Open Verilog International One of the major strengths of the Verilog language is the Programming Language Interface PLI which allows users and Verilog application developers to infinitely extend the capabilities of the Verilog language and the Verilog simulator In fact the overwhelming success of the Verilog language can be partly attributed to the existence of its PLI Using the PLI add on products such as graphical waveform displays or pre and post simulation analysis tools can be easily developed These products can then be used with any Verilog simulator that supports the Verilog PLI This ability to create third party add on products for Verilog simulators has created new markets and provided the Verilog user base with multiple sources of software tools Hardware design engineers can and should use the Verilog PLI to customize their Verilog simulation environment A Company that designs graphics chips for example may wish to see the simulation results of a new design in some custom graphical display The Verilog PLI makes it possible and even trivial to integrate custom software such as a graphical display program into a Verilog simulator The simulation results can then dynamically be displayed in the custom format during simulation And if the company uses Verilog simulators from multiple simulator vendors this integrated graphical display will work with all the simulators      Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States.
