

Bandura

Behaviorist/Cognitive

Studied observational learning (aka: vicarious learning) in his Bobo Doll study; also created the theory of reciprocal determinism, a social-cognitive theory of personality (external and internal determinants of behavior interact reciprocally)

Kohlberg

Cognitive

Came up with stages of moral reasoning (preconventional, conventional, and postconventional) in development of moral judgement

Erikson

Psychoanalytic

He said the world gets bigger, failure is cumulative, and described stages of development that include an adolescent identity crisis

Rotter

Behaviorist (Cognitive)

Personality theory; looked at expectancy and reinforcement value in determining behavior potential

Maslow

Humanist

Pyramid of needs; peak experiences

May

Existentialist

This existentialist psychologist believed that the individual must bravely face life as it is. He also talked about 4 stages of development: innocence, rebellion, ordinary, and creative

Rogers

Humanist

The founder of the humanistic approach, he described an "actualizing tendency" – towards fulfilling your potential.

Piaget

Cognitive

He described 4 stages of cognitive development (sensori-motor, pre-operational, concrete operational, formal operational); also assimilation and accommodation

Asch

Behaviorist/Social

Studied compliance – by putting subjects in groups, asking simple questions where some assistants had been told to give wrong answers

Milgram

Behaviorist/Social

Studied obedience to authority by putting subjects in a situation where they believed they were shocking someone, potentially fatally

Arny,2003-04 Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy,Elizabeth S. Charles,James D. Slotta,Nathaniel Lasry,2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i e extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community. These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships. Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions. Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in betweens straddling the two worlds. As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice. In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles. These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike. We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation.

Understanding Abnormal Child Psychology Vicky Phares, 2007-04-27
Now in its second edition this comprehensive book explores developmental psychopathology as a means for understanding and treating abnormal behavior in children. It covers the strengths and healthy outcomes as a means for designing effective therapies to help children and families while also focusing on prevention as a cornerstone of managing child behavior. Special attention is also given to issues of diversity inclusion and understanding.

Psychology Science , 2008
The Achievement Test Desk Reference Dawn P. Flanagan, 2006-06-30
The Second Edition of this critically acclaimed reference features the most up to date versions of assessment instruments to measure individual achievement and learning disabilities. The authors pragmatic approach offers practitioners an innovative systematic assessment framework that applies Cattell Horn Carroll CHC cognitive theory and blends cognitive testing and Response to Intervention RTI methods into one seamless process for diagnosing learning disabilities. Replete with case studies checklists and worksheets this reference assists practitioners in choosing appropriate tests organizing comprehensive assessments and interpreting results using a cross battery approach. This reference concludes with fifteen appendices providing practitioners with a host of useful information and tools including reproducible worksheets conversion tables and learning disability resources. Grounded in CHC theory and a cross battery approach to assessment this is an essential resource for school psychologists and other practitioners who need to assess learning disabilities.
