Buried Ken Wylie, 2014 On January 20 2003 at 10 45 a m a massive avalanche released from Tumbledown Mountain in the Selkirk Range of British Columbia Tonnes of snow carried 13 members of two guided backcountry skiing groups down the 37 degree incline of a run called La Traviata and buried them After a frantic hour of digging by remaining group members an unthinkable outcome became reality Seven people were dead The tragedy made international news splashing photos of the seven dead Canadian and US skiers on television screens and the pages of newspapers The official analysis did not specifically note guide error as a contributing factor in the accident This interpretation has been insufficient for some of the victims families the public and some members of the guiding community Why did the guiding team seemingly ignore a particularly troublesome snowpack Why were two groups travelling so close together Were the guides adhering to best practices for terrain selection and snow stability evaluation What motivated them to go there Buried is the assistant guide s story It renders an answerable truth about what happened by delving deep into the human factors that played into putting people in harm s way The story begins buried metres deep in snow and through care filled reflection emerges slowly like spring after a long winter nurturing a hopeful courageous dialogue for all who make journeys through the mountains of their life The story illustrates the peace that comes from accountability and the growth that results from understanding Summit Magazine ,1991 Skiing ,2006-12
