Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and innovative thinking. Often faced with a local issue, such as water quality or waste management, using science to create or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective resolution.

Designing solutions requires considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Documenting one part of a solution might solve a problem, but it is important to weigh these trade-offs carefully. For example, creating materials for a water filter may affect its cost and ease of use, which influences the effectiveness of the solution.

After developing a solution, documenting how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises made helps others learn and possibly improve on the idea. Communication, sharing thoughts clearly, and reflecting on the impacts of the innovation are essential steps. This process encourages sharing ideas, locally encourages responsible decision-making, and leads communities forward.

6. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when applying science to solve a local problem?
- Designing a solution immediately
  - Using the most expensive materials
  - Ignoring safety concerns
  - Understanding the problem fully

2. What does documenting constraints in a solution help with?
- Ignoring the problems of the solution
  - Eliminating constraints like budget and safety
  - Showing how to avoid constraints
  - Demonstrating that the solution has no risks

3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
- Finding a solution without any constraints
  - Ignoring safety concerns
  - Using the most expensive materials
  - Using unsafe materials

4. Why is it important to document one part of a solution?
- To attract new users to the solution
  - To make others aware
  - To avoid the problems of the solution
  - To avoid documenting the solution

6. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

When making a solution, it is important to consider the trade-offs between the benefits and the costs. Sometimes, the benefits of a solution may outweigh the costs, but other times, the costs may be too high. It is important to weigh these trade-offs carefully before making a decision.
