2014 Pat For Tourism:

ECRM2014-Proceedings of the 13th European Conference on Research Methodology for Business and Management Studies Dr Martin Rich, Dr Anne Brown, 2014-06-16 Mass Tourism in a Small World David

Harrison, Richard Sharpley, 2017-05-26 This new book reviews all aspects of the phenomenon of mass tourism. It covers theoretical perspectives including political economy, ethics, sustainability and environmentalism, the historical context and the current challenges to domestic, intra-regional and international mass tourism. As tourism and tourist numbers continue to grow around the world, it becomes increasingly important that this subject is studied in depth and best practice applied in real-life situations. Finishing with a speculative chapter identifying potential future trends and challenges, this book forms an essential resource for all researchers and students within tourism studies. Heritage Tourism Destinations Maria D

Alvarez, Atila Yuksel, Frank Go, 2016-05-27 Heritage tourism is tied to myth-making and stories, creative content that can be shared, stored, combined and manipulated, but that depends on a unique cultural or natural history. A significant section of the wider phenomenon that is cultural tourism, heritage tourism is a demand-driven industry that continues to be a subject of heated debate in academic circles. Beginning with an overview of the subject, this book considers the conservation and revitalization of heritage destinations as well as the role local communities have in supporting an attraction. It then discusses product development and communication around the world using new techniques such as social media and examples from food tourism and sporting events, before a final section reviews the planning and institutionalisation of heritage spaces. A timely conclusion subsequently considers the implications of developments such as globalisation, technological improvement and climate change upon these unique destinations. A valuable addition to the literature, this book is the first to bridge the gap between theory and practice, including the latest research and international case studies for researchers and practitioners in tourism and destination management. Trade Policy Review, 2021 Coastal Tourism, Sustainability, and Climate Change in the Caribbean, Volume I Martha Honey, Samantha Hogenson, 2017-03-24 The Caribbean is the most tourism-dependent region in the world, and its tourism attractions and infrastructure and three quarters of its people are concentrated along its coastlines. While the Caribbean contributes to less than 1 percent of global carbon emissions, its beaches and hotels are among the most vulnerable to climate impacts, including increasingly fierce and frequent hurricanes, sea level rise and loss of coral and mangroves. This book details many techniques for mitigating and adapting to climate impacts and demonstrates how socially and environmentally responsible companies are proving resilient in coping with climate change. Cultural Security in Contemporary China and Mongolia Jarmila Ptácková, Ondrej Klimes, 2025-10-01

Cultural Security in Contemporary China and Mongolia applies the term cultural security not exclusively to state or institution-implemented processes but also considers the indigenous bottom-up and inside-out mechanisms of establishing and maintaining communal cultural security of an ethnic group. Markers of cultural identity differ according to an inside and outside perspective and can be re defined according to inner or outer circumstances Importance of these markers increases when a community feels endangered in their cultural existence or diminishes when perceived cultural identity is not questioned The dynamics shaping cultural security are illustrated in examples of ethnic communities in the People s Republic of China and in Mongolia

Ecosystem-Based Fisheries Management Jason S. Link,Anthony R. Marshak,2021-11-15
Ecosystem based fishery management EBFM is rapidly becoming the default approach in global fisheries management The clarity of what EBFM means is sharpening each year and there is now a real need to evaluate progress and assess the effectiveness and impacts By examining a suite of over 90 indicators including socioeconomic governance environmental forcing major pressures systems ecology and fisheries criteria for 9 major US fishery ecosystem jurisdictions the authors systematically track the progress the country has made towards advancing EBFM and making it an operational reality The assessment covers a wide range of data in both time multiple decades and space from the tropics to the poles representing over 10% of the world s ocean surface area The authors view progress towards the implementation of EBFM as synonymous with improved management of living marine resources in general and highlight the findings from a national perspective Although US centric the lessons learned are directly applicable for all parts of the global ocean Much work remains but significant progress has already been made to better address many of the challenges facing the sustainable management of our living marine resources This is an essential and accessible reference for all fisheries professionals who are currently practicing or progressing towards ecosystem based fisheries management It will also be of relevance and use to researchers teachers managers and graduate students in marine ecology fisheries biology biological oceanography global change biology conservation biology and marine resource management

Tourism in Europe Wilhelm Englbart Pompl,Patrick Lavery,1993
Tourism is of vital importance to the economies of many European countries in terms of both receipts and employment With the advent of the single European market further opportunities and threats have arisen for the tourism industries of both EC and non EC countries This book provides a general overview of tourism in Europe today Most of the chapters are written by authors working in the countries concerned The book is a suitable text for students taking advanced level courses in tourism but will also be of value to those studying European economics or geography
