PART A
(Answer all questions. Each carries 3 marks.)

1. What advantages are there to a language processing system in which the compiler produces assembly language rather than machine language. (3)

Compiler is a translator program that translates a program written in (HLL) the source program and translates it into an equivalent program in (MLL) the target program. As an important part of a compiler is error showing to the programmer. Executing a program written in HLL programming language is basically of two parts. The source program must first be compiled translated into a object program. Then the results object program is loaded into a memory executed.

The compiler may produce an assembly-language program as its output, because assembly language is easier to produce as output and is easier to debug. Programmers found it difficult to write or read programs in machine language. They begin to use a mnemonic (symbols) for each machine instruction, which they would subsequently translate into machine language. Such a mnemonic machine language is now called an assembly language. Programs known as assemblers were written to automate the translation of assembly language into machine language. The input to an assembler program is called source program, the output is a machine language translation (object program).

2. Describe the languages denoted by the following regular expressions. (3)

1. $a(a|b)^a$ 2. $((\epsilon|a)b^)^*$ 3. $(a|b)^*a(a|b)(a|b)$

1. String of a's and b's that start and end with a.
2. String of a's and b's.
