

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SYSTEM
ACADEMIC DEGREE: FULL PROGRAM PROPOSAL

I. Full Academic Degree Program Title

Master of Science: Spatial Informatics
University of Maine (CIP Code: 14.3801)

II. Program Objectives

The objective of this proposal is to provide an "all e-learning" "all coursework" master-of-science degree in Spatial Informatics (MSSI) for place-bound students that desire strong theory, computational, analytical, policy and technical foundations in geographic information science and systems. As a general rule, students may view class videos and accomplish assignments at any time throughout a week in any of the offered program courses and have the weekly opportunity (or requirement) to participate in a one to two hour "live" discussion session at a mutually convenient time for class members prior to the due dates for their weekly assignments. The MS Spatial Informatics graduate degree is an "online only" version of the existing and more intense on-campus research-focused MS in Spatial Information Science and Engineering degree. An innovative funding approach is used to ensure sustainability of the program and increase the potential for substantial financial benefits for the university.

A. Program Rationale

The business climate in Maine and the rest of the nation is characterized by rapid technological change, intense global competition, faster product life cycles and more complex, specialized markets. Individuals with information systems expertise who can design and develop information systems, manage sophisticated information resources, work on interdisciplinary teams and communicate effectively with business managers, engineers and other end-users are in short supply. A major goal of all the graduate programs in the School of Computing and Information Science is to produce individuals who can make significant contributions to economic development by ensuring that private and public enterprise have the expertise needed to remain competitive.

Already existing on-campus programs include the Master of Science in Information Systems (MSIS) and the Graduate Certificate in Information Systems (GC-IS) (<http://www.umaine.edu/msis/curriculum-and-degree-requirements/>) as well as the Master of Science in Spatial Information Science and Engineering (MS-SIE) and the Graduate Certificate in Geographic Information Systems (GC-GIS) (<http://spatial.umaine.edu/graduate-info/sie-graduate-info/>). Many of the courses affiliated with these programs are already offered with online class sections. This proposed graduate program will help us move to offering e-learning class sections for most of our non-research focused master's level courses.

Academic Paper Proposal:

Developing Research Proposals Pam Denicolo, Lucinda Becker, 2012-01-20 Writing a research proposal is one of the most important tasks facing academics researchers and postgraduate students. Yet there is a good deal of misinformation and a great lack of guidance about what constitutes a good research proposal and what can be done to maximise one's chances of writing a successful research proposal. Denicolo and Becker recognise the importance of developing an effective research proposal for gaining either a place on a research degree programme or funding to support research projects and set out to explore the main factors that proposal writers need to attend to in developing successful proposals of their own.

Developing Research Proposals will help readers to understand the context within which their proposal will be read what the reviewers are looking for and will be influenced by while also supporting the development of relevant skills through advice and practical activities. This book explores the nature and purpose of different kinds of proposals. Focuses on the actual research proposed. Discusses how best to carry out and structure the literature review. Examines the posing and phrasing of research questions and hypotheses. Looks at how methods and methodology should be handled in a proposal. Discusses the crucial issues of planning strategy and timing in developing targeted proposals. Denicolo and Becker draw together the key elements in the process of preparing and submitting a proposal and concludes with advice on responding to the results successful or not and their relevance to future proposals. The Success in Research series from Cindy Becker and Pam Denicolo provides short authoritative and accessible guides on key areas of professional and research development.

Avoiding jargon and cutting to the chase of what you really need to know these practical and supportive books cover a range of areas from presenting research to achieving impact and from publishing journal articles to developing proposals. They are essential reading for any student or researcher interested in developing their skills and broadening their professional and methodological knowledge in an academic context.
