

Toads vs. Frogs

Toads and frogs are both amphibians, which means that they spend their early lives in water and later on land. However, there are some differences between the two. Toads tend to have dry, warty skin and are typically found in drier habitats such as deserts, while frogs have smoother skin and prefer moist environments like forests and wetlands. Toads are also more likely to burrow in the ground, while frogs prefer to hop and jump.

Toad

Both toads and frogs are carnivores and eat insects, spiders, and other small animals. They both lay their eggs in water, where they hatch into tadpoles that grow and develop into adult amphibians. Toads and frogs also have powerful legs that they use to jump and swim, and both have eyes on the top of their heads that allow them to see in all directions. However, frogs tend to have longer legs than toads, which makes them better at leaping and jumping.

Frog

Toads and frogs also have different behaviors. Toads are generally slower and less active than frogs, preferring to stay in one spot for long periods of time. They also have the ability to puff up their bodies to make themselves appear larger to predators. Frogs, on the other hand, are more energetic and are often seen jumping and leaping around. They have long, sticky tongues that they use to catch insects and other prey, and they are known for their distinctive calls, which they use to communicate with other frogs.

Multicultural Teaching in the Early Childhood Classroom Mariana Souto-Manning, 2015-04-24 This unique book features an array of approaches, strategies, and tools for teaching multiculturally in the early years. The teachers and classrooms portrayed here provide young children with rich educational experiences that empower them to understand themselves in relation to others. You will see how amazing teachers engage in culturally responsive teaching that fosters educational equity while also meeting state and national standards such as the Common Core State Standards. This engaging book is sprinkled with questions for reflection and implementation that encourage educators to start planning ways of enhancing their own teaching, making their early childhood setting a more equitable learning space. Book Features: Multicultural education in action, including the everyday issues and tensions experienced by children and their families; Powerful vignettes from diverse Head Start, preschool, kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grade classrooms throughout the United States; Sections on Getting Started and Considering Obstacles and Exploring Possibilities in each chapter; A list of multicultural children's books and resources for further reading; Chapters: Multicultural Tools and Strategies for Teaching Young Children; Multicultural Education as Transformative Education; Interviews Encouraging Children to Ask Questions; Critical Inquiry Supporting Children's Investigations; Culture Circles with Multicultural Literature Addressing Issues of Fairness; Community Resources and Home Literacies; Developing Funds of Knowledge; Technology; Media; Teaching Multicultural Teaching; Storytelling and Story Acting; Creating Spaces for Children to Negotiate Change; Reflecting on the Possibilities of Teaching Multiculturally; What Next? What If? Mariana Souto-Manning is Associate Professor of Education in the Department of Curriculum and Teaching at Teachers College, Columbia University. A profound, rich, and rewarding meditation and deep conversation with teachers fully engaging young children with culture, social history, and learning for the future. This wide-ranging book escapes temporal, spatial, and disciplinary boundaries. Read it and reflect on how you can take it into your own life of learning. Shirley Brice Heath, Professor Emerita, Stanford University: Early childhood educators will experience this unique book as a warm and detailed invitation to engage in multicultural education. The emphasis throughout is on multiple pedagogical approaches from culture circles to podcasts to story acting and multiple cultural heritages embodied by active children and teachers. From a critical perspective and alongside creative teachers who aspire to be transformative, Souto-Manning links accessible theory with rich and thoughtful practices. Celia Genishi, Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University: Mariana Souto-Manning's Multicultural Teaching in the Early Childhood Classroom rightly places the use of deficit thinking and ineffective teaching strategies in the wasteland of classroom instruction. The author superbly documents and explains ways of teaching multiculturally that will richly benefit the learning of all students and make teaching become the fun that teachers dreamed it would be when they first said, "I want to teach because I love kids." Carl A. Grant Hoefs, Bascom Professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison: Multicultural Teaching in the Early Childhood
