

Case No. 1

International Fisher effect

$$i_f - i_d = \pi_f^e - \pi_d^e$$

$i_f$  = Nominal interest rate (foreign)

$\pi_f^e$  = Expected inflation (foreign)

$i_d$  = Nominal interest rate (domestic)

$\pi_d^e$  = Expected inflation (domestic)

International parity conditions link a country's exchange rates to factors such as inflation expectations and interest rates. There are five key parity conditions that form the basis to determine exchange rates. The international Fisher effect states that the nominal yield spread between two nations is determined solely by their expected inflation differential. The international Fisher effect is based on two other conditions:

- uncovered interest rate parity, which states that the expected change in the spot rate is equal to the difference between two countries' nominal interest rates ( $\% \Delta S^e_{USD} = i_f - i_d$ ) and,
- ex-ante purchasing power parity (PPP), which states that the expected change in the spot rate is equal to the difference between two countries' expected inflation rates ( $\% \Delta S^e_{USD} = \pi_f^e - \pi_d^e$ ).

Thus, the international Fisher effect states that the difference between two countries' nominal interest rates (i.e. the nominal yield spread) is equal to the difference between two countries' expected inflation rates (i.e. their expected inflation differential).

(Choice A) Forward rate parity states that the forward exchange rate will be an unbiased, but not necessarily accurate, forecast of the future spot exchange rate.

(Choice C) Relative PPP states that changes in the actual spot rate equals the actual difference in two countries' inflation rates. Absolute PPP states that the notional exchange rate between two markets is the ratio of their broad price indexes.

Things to remember:

The international Fisher effect states that the nominal yield spread between two nations is equal to their expected inflation differential. This effect is based on uncovered interest rate parity and ex-ante purchasing power parity.

Explain international parity conditions (covered and uncovered interest rate parity, forward rate parity, purchasing power parity, and the international Fisher effect)

The Arab Gulf States Abdulkhaleq Abdulla, 2000-08-10 The six Arab Gulf States AGS comprising Bahrain Kuwait Oman Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates are universally recognized as a distinct group of states These states have developed their own distinct socio economic features regional concerns and political priorities that are relatively independent of the rest of the Arab World More important these states have acquired over the last 30 years a unique international prominence However despite their global significance the AGS are either little understood or even grossly misunderstood by the outside world The central purpose of this analysis is to provide answers to some key questions such as Why is it important to study the AGS How do we best approach and analyze them What are their unique characteristics How did they acquire such an imposing strategic value The author discusses among other aspects three compelling reasons and three different approaches to assess the AGS The study examines the changing national regional and international developments affecting these states and the rationale behind their strategic and economic importance concluding that the conventional oil dominated approaches to the AGS do not adequately reflect their individual complexities and current realities The Arab
