2.3. Explain how culture influences the way you think, feel, and act. Use specific examples to support your answer.

• Culture influences the way we think and act by defining what is right and wrong, what is important, and what is unimportant. It influences our language, communication, social structures, and ways of life. It also influences the way we act and think. For example, if you are from a culture that values tradition, you are likely to be more conservative and less open to change. If you are from a culture that values individualism, you are likely to be more independent and less concerned with following rules and regulations, and more concerned with personal freedom, rights, and interests.
