Arctic Human Development Report:

Arctic Human Development Report Joan Nymand Larsen, Gail Fondahl, 2015-02-18 The goals of the second volume of the AHDR Arctic Human Development Report Regional Processes and Global Linkages are to provide an update to the first AHDR 2004 in terms of an assessment of the state of Arctic human development to highlight the major trends and changes unfolding related to the various issues and thematic areas of human development in the Arctic over the past decade and based on this assessment to identify policy relevant conclusions and key gaps in knowledge new and emerging Arctic success stories The production of AHDR II on the tenth anniversary of the first AHDR makes it possible to move beyond the baseline assessment to make valuable comparisons and contrasts across a decade of persistent and rapid change in the North It addresses critical issues and emerging challenges in Arctic living conditions quality of life in the North global change impacts and adaptation and Indigenous livelihoods The assessment contributes to our understanding of the interplay and consequences of physical and social change processes affecting Arctic residents quality of life at both the regional and global scales It shows that the Arctic is not a homogenous region Impacts of globalization and environmental change differ within and between regions between Indigenous and non Indigenous northerners between genders and along other axes Arctic

Human Development Report Nordic Council of Ministers, 2014 Arctic Social Indicators Gail Fondahl, 2010 Abstract This report is a result of and follow up to the Arctic Human Development Report AHDR which appeared in 2004 and had been conducted under the auspices of the Arctic Council's Sustainable Development Working Group SDWG The AHDR marked processes of maturation within the Arctic Council and beyond On the one hand the AHDR represented the first social science driven report prepared for the Arctic Council indicating that various stakeholders from politicians to Arctic residents understood the importance of the human dimension for sustainable development in the Arctic On the other hand the processes leading to the AHDR marked new developments in the relationship between Arctic governance and scholarship including coordinated support for the report from the Standing Committee of Parliamentarians of the Arctic Region SCPAR

Mikkelsen, Oluf Langhelle, 2008-08-18 Pt 1 The Arctic context framework and methodology pt 2 Legal and institutional framework case studies pt 3 Comparisons and managerial implications      Globalization and the Circumpolar North Lassi Heininen, Chris Southcott, 2010-05-15 The circumpolar north has long been the subject of conflicting national aspirations and border disputes and with the end of the cold war and the coming era of potential resource scarcity its importance will only grow over the next several decades Anticipating that renewed prominence Globalization and the Circumpolar North brings together an array of scholars to explore the effects of this increased attention from the new opportunities offered by globalization to the potential damage to long isolated northern communities and peoples      Expanding Borders ,2006 Human Development Report ,2011      Annual Report North Atlantic Marine Mammal Commission,2005      Antarctica Doaa Abdel-Motaal, 2016-09-28 The thawing Antarctic continent offers living space and marine and mineral resources that were previously inaccessible This book discusses how revisiting the Antarctic Treaty System and dividing up the continent preemptively could spare the world serious conflict The Antarctic Treaty and related agreements collectively known as the Antarctic Treaty System ATS regulate the seventh continent which is the only continent without a native human population The main treaty within the ATS came into force in 1961 and suspended all territorial claims in Antarctica The Antarctic Environmental Protocol followed in 1998 and prohibited any minerals exploitation in the continent With this prohibition up for review in 2048 this book asks whether the Antarctic Treaty can continue to protect Antarctica Doaa Abdel Motaal an expert on environmental issues who has traveled through the Arctic and Antarctic explains that the international community must urgently turn its attention to examining how to divide up the thawing continent in a peaceful manner She discusses why the Antarctic Treaty is unlikely to be an adequate measure in the face of international competition for invaluable resources in the 21st century She argues that factors such as global warming the growth in climate refugees that the world is about to witness and the increasingly critical quest for energy resources will make the Antarctic continent a highly sought after objective Readers will come to appreciate that what has likely protected Antarctica so far was not the Antarctic Treaty but the continent's harsh climate and isolation With Antarctica potentially becoming habitable only a few decades from now revisiting the Antarctic Treaty in favor of an orderly division of the continent is likely to be the best plan for avoiding costly conflict      Encyclopedia of the Arctic Mark Nuttall, 2005 The Encyclopedia of the Arctic offers a rich and dynamic view of and introduction to an enormous incredibly diverse and rapidly changing part of the world Its three volumes comprise overviews of hundreds of topics events places people human cultures animals and environments ranging from geological history exploration the cultures and livelihoods of indigenous peoples geopolitics international environmental cooperation natural history physical processes life sciences and environmental change Page xxxix      International Relations D. Organic Pollutants Canada. Environment Canada, 2006      The Indigenous World , 2006      Protecting Arctic Biodiversity , 2010 The Arctic region is characterized by some of the largest continuous intact ecosystems on the planet but is facing increasingly larger threats These threats include the full range of stressors known from other parts of the world namely habitat loss and fragmentation from infrastructure and industrial development chemical pollution overharvesting climate change and invasive species infestations Many of these pressures are mainly globally driven including climate change long range transported pollution and even invasive species infestations Others such as harvesting and fragmentation are directly under Arctic governance though often driven from demands outside of the Arctic region This report takes a broad view of existing multilateral environmental agreements MEAs and examines the role of the global environment in impacting and influencing the efficiency of Arctic MEAs in protecting biodiversity and in sustainable development The report allows governing and scientific bodies of MEAs as well as national decision makers to better direct their programmes of work and other activities to address the needs of Arctic biodiversity and the region s local and Indigenous Peoples From publisher website      TemaNord Joan Nymand Larsen, Gail Fondahl, 2014      Best Practices in Ecosystem-based Oceans Management in the Arctic Alf Håkon Hoel, 2009
