2013 Eastern Cape Economics Paper1 Question Paper:

Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe Mdlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest Khalema, 2025-02-21 South Africa's struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid. As such, understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa's place in it is of great importance. This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post-apartheid South African state has recast its nation-building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post-apartheid constitution, policy directives and democratic political integration, economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post-apartheid state's apparent neo-liberal turn. The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state. These trends include the impact of globalisation, regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy, thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development. This volume will be a valuable resource to academics, researchers and students in the fields of regional studies, economics and political theory as well as policymakers, planners and local economic development practitioners.

Economics of Land Degradation and Improvement - A Global Assessment for Sustainable Development Ephraim Nkonya, Alisher Mirzabaev, Joachim von Braun, 2015-11-11 This volume deals with land degradation which is occurring in almost all terrestrial biomes and agro-ecologies in both low and high income countries and is stretching to about 30% of the total global land area. About three billion people reside in these degraded lands. However, the impact of land degradation is especially severe on livelihoods of the poor who heavily depend on natural resources. The annual global cost of land degradation due to land use and cover change (LUCC) and lower cropland and rangeland productivity is estimated to be about 300 billion USD. Sub-Saharan Africa (SSA) accounts for the largest share, 22% of the total global cost of land degradation. Only about 38% of the cost of land degradation due to LUCC, which accounts for 78% of the US 300 billion loss, is borne by land users and the remaining share, 62%, is borne by consumers of ecosystem services off the farm. The results in this volume indicate that reversing land degradation trends makes both economic sense and has multiple social and environmental benefits. On average, one US dollar investment into restoration of degraded land returns five US dollars. The findings of the country case studies call for increased investments into the rehabilitation and restoration of degraded lands including through such institutional and policy measures as strengthening community participation for sustainable land management, enhancing government effectiveness and rule of law, improving access to markets and rural services and securing land tenure The assessment in this volume has been conducted at a time when there is an elevated interest in private land investments and when global efforts to achieve sustainable development objectives have intensified In this regard the results of this volume can contribute significantly to the ongoing policy debate and efforts to design strategies for achieving sustainable development goals and related efforts to address land degradation and halt biodiversity loss

Understanding Energy and Energy Policy Timothy Braun, Lisa Glidden, 2014-11-13 Activists scientists and policymakers around the world have long argued that we need to find sustainable and secure solutions to the world's energy demands At issue for citizens worldwide is whether we are scientifically literate enough to understand the potential policy choices before us Understanding Energy and Energy Policy is a one stop resource for understanding the complexities of energy policy and the science behind the utilization of energy sources The multidisciplinary perspective presented in this book is necessary for readers to be able to weigh the advantages and disadvantages of potential energy policies The book draws on case studies from the global North and South from countries that are resource poor and resource rich while providing explanations of the science and politics behind burning fossil fuels and power created through nuclear energy solar energy geothermal energy wind energy biofuels and water South African national bibliography, 1995 Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society Guy Lamb, 2022-01-31 This book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the South Africa Police Service SAPS By means of a historical analysis of South Africa this book introduces a new concept police frontierism which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police policing and boundaries and can potentially be used for future case study research Drawing on a wealth of research this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in South Africa and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary Focusing on cases of high density police operations public order policing and the recent policing of the COVID 19 lockdown this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the SAPS and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in South Africa This book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence as well as police work and police militarization Dynamic Industrial Policy in Africa United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa, 2014 For millions of Africans growth is yet to translate into jobs and better living conditions Africa's largely commodity driven growth has not been matched by the much needed structural change that can lead to economic transformation employment and reduced poverty Market failures necessitate industrial policy interventions Yet in the absence of the right processes and institutions good industrial policies will fail Indeed weak institutions and poor policy design have hindered industrial policy This report gives a framework for getting the policy process right to foster industrialization It uses 11 country case studies to assess the critical ingredients for spurring industrialization innovative institutions effective processes and flexible mechanisms and structural transformation Trade Liberalisation and Economic Development in Africa Gift Mugano, 2021-09-30 This book provides a thorough and rigorous discussion on the impact of trade liberalisation on economic development with a special focus on the African continent The author presents the rationale for trade liberalisation trade liberalisation frameworks the trade liberalisation economic development nexus impediments to trade and contemporary issues of international trade In this book notwithstanding the benefits from trade liberalisation the author shows that African trade as a share of global trade has remained flat at 3% as in 1975 while the continent's exports have remained raw materials and its intra regional trade at less than 15% of total trade which is the lowest in the world UNCTAD 2020 With respect to key economic development indicators such as economic growth poverty levels and employment levels this book shows that ironically and in direct contrast with the conventional views that trade liberalisation alleviates poverty trade liberalisation in Africa has resulted in high levels of unemployment and low economic growth which ultimately lead to increased poverty In addition this book provides a detailed analysis of why trade liberalisation has failed to yield meaningful benefits to Africa The binding constraints and blockages which prevent positive spin offs on trade liberalisation in Africa are discussed in detail in this book In the same vein the author provides practical strategies which must be adopted by African countries in order to gain from trade liberalisation making this work a must read for African governments academia trade experts regional trading blocs the World Trade Organization and development partners In view of this and as part of the disruptive and structural transformation policies the author discusses case studies and international experience contextualised to Africa as well as strategies for addressing the trade related infrastructure gap production capacities export promotion and aid for trade The Oxford Handbook of the South African Economy Arkebe Oqubay, Fiona Tregenna, Imraan Valodia, 2021-11-18 While sharing some characteristics with other middle income countries South Africa is a country with a unique economic history and distinctive economic features It is a regional economic powerhouse that plays a significant role not only in southern Africa and in the continent but also as a member of BRICS However there has been a lack of structural transformation and weak economic growth and South Africa faces the profound triple challenges of poverty inequality and unemployment Any meaningful debate about economic policies to address these challenges needs to be informed by a deep understanding of historical developments robust empirical evidence and rigorous analysis of South Africa's complex economic landscape This volume seeks to provide a wide ranging set of original detailed and state of the art analytical perspectives that contribute to scientific knowledge as well as to well informed and productive discourse on the South African economy While concentrating on the more recent economic issues facing South Africa the handbook also provides historical and political context It offers an in depth examination of strategic issues in the country's key economic sectors and brings together diverse analytical perspectives Climate Change 2014 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability: Regional Aspects Christopher B. Rethinking Development Strategies After the Financial Crisis Alfredo Fernando Calcagno,Sebastian Dullien,Alejandro Márquez-Velázquez,Nicolas Maystre,Jan Priewe,United Nations Conference on Trade and Development,Fachhochschule für Technik und Wirtschaft Berlin,2015 The recent economic trends and the challenges posed by the global crisis reinforce the importance of implementing strategies for development as opposed to leaving the economy to market forces Countries need a strategic compass for long run economic development either explicitly or implicitly Among other ingredients this comprises macroeconomic policies sectoral policies including the financial sector trade and industrial policies institution building in key areas and development friendly global governance Within a chosen medium or even long term strategy governments need more policy space to adjust to the specific and evolving social historical and institutional context The experience of Asia shows that rather than implementing narrow and rigid general guidelines experimental approaches which require policy space are a recipe for success Furthermore the slow growth periods endured by several countries the lost decades allowed inferring which policies should be avoided The authors of this publication share the notion that developing countries can and should learn more from each other as well as from their own past experience It is important to look at comparisons between developing countries including both success and failure stories In this second volume seven country studies contribute to this approach From this perspective poor economic results in developing regions and transition economies in the 1980s and 1990s have to be compared with rapid output growth and social improvements in the two preceding decades as well as the 2000s Several factors have contributed to explaining these contrasts In particular the existence of a developmental State that uses its room for manoeuvre to act on both the supply and demand side is a common denominator of most successful experiences On the contrary neoliberal policies that restrained the role of the State in the economy and dismissed the need to preserve any policy space prevailed in the slow growing regions during the lost decades Urbanization and
