Governing America Robert Singh, 2003 Governing America is an innovative edited textbook designed for first time students of American politics. Written by an international team of experts, this volume offers an accessible and comprehensive examination of American politics both before and after September 11. Divided into four parts, the volume opens with an introduction to the main theoretical and historical surveys of American politics and foreign policy. Part Two analyzes the key institutions of American government. Part Three examines a range of public policies, and Part Four assesses a series of contemporary issues and controversies. AGS Quarterly, 1999 Autoantibodies Research Progress Quentin P.

Dubois, 2008 An autoantibody is an antibody, a type of protein manufactured by the immune system that is directed against one or more of the individual's own proteins. Many autoimmune diseases in humans, most notably lupus erythematosus, are caused by such autoantibodies. This book presents the latest research from around the world. New Directions in Geriatric Medicine Lee Ann Lindquist, 2016-04-09 This book is designed to present the clinical geriatric trends within general internal medicine and family practice which practitioners often encounter in caring for their older adult patients. Chapters focus on increasingly difficult clinical decisions that practitioners have to make in caring for older adults who often experience medical complications due to memory loss, physical disability, and multiple chronic conditions. Written by experts in geriatric medicine, each of these chapters starts with the most up-to-date clinical geriatric research and provides specific examples or case studies on how to use this information to address the clinical needs of older adult patients. In addition, there is a set of concise take-home points for each chapter that are easy to commit to memory and implement in clinical care of aging patients. As the only book to focus on current trends in geriatric research and evidence-based eldercare practice, Clinical Trends in Geriatric Medicine is of great value to internists, family practitioners, geriatricians, nurses, and physician assistants who care for older adults. Patients in Peril United States. Aging, 2002 Transactions of the American Gynecological and Obstetrical Society, 2000 Bridges, Pathways and Transitions Mahsood Shah, Gail Whiteford, 2016-10-04 Bridges, Pathways and Transitions: International Innovations in Widening Participation shows that widening participation initiatives and policies have had a profound impact on improving access to higher education for historically marginalized groups of students from diverse socioeconomic and cultural backgrounds. The research presented provides a source of inspiration to students who are navigating disadvantage to succeed in higher education against the odds. There are stories of success in difficult circumstances revealing the resilience and determination of individuals and collectives to fight for a place in higher education to improve chances for securing social mobility for next generations. The book also reveals that more work and policy interventions are needed to further equalize the playing field between social groups. Governments need to address the entrenched structural inequalities, particularly the effects of poverty that prevent more academically able disadvantaged students from participating in higher education on the basis of the circumstances of their birth Across the globe social reproduction is far more likely than social mobility because of policies and practices that continue to protect the privilege of those in the middle and top of social structures With the gap between rich and poor widening at a rate previously unseen we need radical policies to equalize the playing field in fundamental ways Focuses on collaborations with schools families and communities Highlights tools and methods to aid in the creation of pathways bridging initiatives into higher education Includes case studies that show how students are supported during the transition into high education systems
